Kellogg Explains Divergence of American and British Policies

TAKE LIBERAL ATTITUDE

American Warships Remain in Territorial Waters to Help Refugees

Washington, D. C.—(AP)—The United States has notified all Chinese factions and the powers signatory to the Washington conference treaties that if proper delegates can be agreed upon in the war-torn country it stands ready to transact, either in concert with other nations or alone, if necessary, a new tariff and extra territorial treaties with China.

However, until new treaties are negotiated with "somebody representing China," and ratified by the senate, existing pacts "cannot be abrogated."

These are the cardinal points in Secretary Kellogg's long awaited Chinese policy declaration, made public Wednesday night in the form of a "statement" and making no mention of the British memorandum on the subject to which it had first been planned to be an answer. The pronouncement was made public simultaneously in Peking, Hankow and Shanghai.

SHIP'S PROTECT CITIZENS

It pointed out that American naval forces will be held in Chinese waters to protect American life and property in event the "Chinese authorities are unable to afford such protection as the United States has watched with sympathetic interest the "nationalist awakening of China," and expressed a desire to observe strict neutrality, as between "Chinese" factions and to deal with that country in a "most liberal spirit" as to unequal treaties.

All that was required of China, the statement said, was protection and "equal opportunity with the citizens of other powers to reside in China and to pursue their legitimate occupations without special privileges, monopolies or spheres of special interest or influence."

Washington—Just the senate and the president have come to an agreement that moral sanction should be used instead of force in handling the Mexican problem, the possibility of using force to protect the lives and property of American citizens in another trouble area of the world—China—has arisen to perplex the president and secretary of state.

Hitherto the United States has stood with the foreign powers for concerted action. The divergence of the American and British policies, however, has been significantly explained at the White House in the last 24 hours, which means that the expeditionary

SNOW REMOVAL IS DISCUSSED AT SHOW

Clearing of All Roads Would Cost $50 a Mile, Commissioner Says

Madison—(AP)—The addresses of W. M. Torkelson, engineer-secretary of the highway commission, and E. F. Bean, one of the commissioners, featured Thursday morning's session of the state road clearing on removal of snow from the highways, said that the clearing of all roads throughout the winter would cost approximately $50 per mile or $4,000,000 annually—equivalent to the total maintenance cost of the state trunk highway system. This prohibitory cost brings the question of what roads should be cleared, "and the answer comes back 'the principal trade routes'." The problem of financing even this smaller amount of work then faced the highway departments, he added, outlining the previously made proposal that an additional gasoline tax of one cent a gallon be added during the winter months. With this revenue 14,400 miles of highway could be cleared during an average winter. Mr. Bean then discussed the detailing of the work and the division of snow clearing funds between the counties and the state.

BARTENDER SHOTS HOST AND HIMSELF

Superior—(AP)—Charles Larson, 35, shot to death his host and then killed himself, as he awaited supper Wednesday evening at the home of Oscar Seegar, 39, a laborer. Larson, a bartender in a soft drink parlor, formerly lodged and boarded with the Seegar family. His unrequited infatuation for Mrs. Seegar is believed to have led to the double slaying. Police said Larson had been drinking.

SEES DELAY IN BUILDING RIVER CANAL

Executive Secretary of Tide-water Association Urges United Effort

Muskegon, Mich.—(AP)—Further delay in completing preliminary details of the St. Lawrence deep waterway may be anticipated, unless all agencies supporting it speak out emphatically for immediate action, delegates to the regional conference of the Great Lakes St. Lawrence Tide-water association here were told Thursday.

Every agency of the 15 states, comprising the association's council of states, should get behind the movement, declared Charles P. Craig, executive secretary of the association. The time for such activity, he said, was especially opportune in view of the Hoover commission's report to President Coolidge. Warning against indifference or inactivity, Mr. Craig said:

"The powerful interests of New York, definitely opposed to the St. Lawrence route, are already attacking both the engineering and economic features of the Hoover commission's report." Speakers Thursday pointed out the next great step in the undertaking was a joint treaty with Canada. The waterway is necessary not only to development of inland midwestern states, but also to further development and prosperity along the Great Lakes. R. J. MacLean, vice president of the association, declared in his address as chairman of the opening session.

WOOD TRIES TO QUELL UPRISING OF MOROS

Manila, P. I.—(AP)—The Moro uprising on Jolo island, where Princess Tarhata Kiram has joined her rebellious husband, Datu Tahil, in his entrenchment and defied a detachment of the Philippine constabulary, was larger the cause of Governor General Wood's sudden return from Baguio Wednesday. This was unofficially learned Thursday. The opinion prevails that General Wood may go to Jolo island in an effort to negotiate a peaceful settlement. He knows the leaders there intimately and they have the greatest confidence in him.

EXPECT OUTSIDE JUDGE WILL HEAR TAX SUIT

Hearing on the demurrer filed by John A. Lonsdorf, district attorney, in the tax suit instituted against Outagamie county by George T. Richard, will not be held before Judge Edgar V. Werner, it is indicated at the court-house. Judge Werner is expected to ask that an outside judge be called in. Although Saturday, Jan. 29, has been tentatively set as the date for the hearing, it is probable that the matter will be put off until a later date. Judge Werner is hearing several cases in Milwaukee this week, and it is doubtful that another judge can be secured on this short notice.

Mr. Richards is seeking an order restraining the county from collecting the county tax on his property at 211 S. Locust st. This tax amounts to approximately $24.16.

The county filed a demurrer on the grounds that the plaintiff has no cause for action.

COLLECT HALF MILLION IN TAXES IN THREE DAYS

About $250,000 must be collected each day for the next three days if the entire 1927 tax roll of $1,213,503.75 is to be paid in before Feb. 1 according to Fred E. Bachman, city treasurer. Approximately $450,000 has been collected up to Thursday. Usually between $400,000 and $500,000 is collected on the last day. Mr. Bachman said Thursday. Last year more than $400,000 was collected on the final day.

On Monday $57,696.65 was collected, Tuesday, $36,655.20 and Wednesday, $37,631.67.

Eleven Graves Near Platteville Hold Remains, Slayer Declares

Mauston—(AP)—William N. Coffey's latest story that he killed his wife with a baseball bat and concealed the body, after dismembering it in 11 graves in a lonely spot near Platteville, faced further tests Thursday with the arrival here of District Attorney R. M. Orchard of Grant-co.

The district attorney, who probably will prosecute Coffey on a murder charge, conferred with Wisconsin and Iowa officials. He told the Associated Press the conference would decide whether Coffey will be taken to the spot five miles from the southwestern Wisconsin city where he confessed Wednesday he had buried the remains of his bigamous wife.

Mr. Orchard denied that he had a warrant for Coffey but indicated he would issue one if the confessed slayer's visit to Grant-co establishes the veracity of his ghoulish story.

TRY TO SHAKE STORY

It was expected that officials would make an attempt to shake Coffey's assertion that a secluded spot near the Wisconsin bank of the Mississippi river in Grant-co was the scene of the quarrel with his wife which culminated in her death. The slayer, in confessions made Monday and Wednesday, confessed the spot where he accidentally killed his wife with a baseball bat after a quarrel, was in Wisconsin and not in Eagle Point Park, near Dubuque, as officials believe.

Failing to establish that the murder was committed in Iowa, where capital punishment is inflicted, Orchard has announced he will accept responsibility for prosecuting Coffey and attempt to send him to prison for life.

Coffey's confession found corroboration in statements of the bus driver, who introduced Coffey to the scene of the incident. Edward Foonhens of Dubuque, was the bus driver whom Coffey stopped. Foonhens said he was halted by a man on highway 23, near Ritter's woods, about five miles from Platteville. He thought it was on Oct. 11 which would coincide with the time of Coffey.

REMEMBER COFFEY

The man asked him to send out a battery man, so Foonhens sent Roy Spinks of Platteville.

"I remember him distinctly because he struck me as being such a nut," Spinks said Thursday when asked about Coffey.

Driving out the gravel highway, Spinks said he found Coffey waiting at the side of the road. He led him 200 feet into the woods to the car.

"It is a pretty lonesome place, all brush and trees and there isn't a house within a quarter of a mile," Spinks said. "The fellow told me he had camped there the night before and had set up reading by the light of his headlights until he fell asleep. The lights burned all night. The man told me he always camped in places like that because it was a sort of hobby with him."

"I asked him where the battery was in the car and he didn't know so I looked underneth and found it."

"I remember he watched me so close that I thought it was funny. When he wasn't watching me he was staring around into the woods. When I finished repairing the battery, he followed me into town in his car."

WOULD DISBAR JUDGE OF DANE-CO COURT

County Bar Association Alleges Stolen Borrowed Money from Italians

Madison—(AP)—An order to show cause why Judge A. A. Stolen of the Dane Superior court, should not be disbarred from the practice of law in Wisconsin and be removed from his office as judge, was issued Thursday by the state supreme court.

The order was issued by the high court on petition of the grievance committee of the Dane-co Bar association. It was signed by Judge Stolen, a similar charge included the judge's actions in the Sicilian colony of Greenbush.

The petition alleges that during the term of Phil LaFollette as district attorney here, John Doe proceedings were brought by the district court to indicate the "unfitness of Judge Stolen."

It gives the history of the section "known as Greenbush, or Little Italy," in Madison and lists three Italian residents, giving the specific liquor and other cases that were tried or brought against them. The amounts the order states they loaned Judge Stolen and their names follow: Nick Randazzo, $500, Sept. 18, 1924; Dominic Manderino, $800; Peter Labruzzo, $600, at one time, and $500 later.

The order's allegations are that while Stolen accepted the loans without apparent promises of favor when the three happened to be in court, that was the understood meaning of the borrowings, in view of the principal not having been paid back in the two years since the loans were made. Interest checks were sent to Labruzzo according to allegations, but were returned to the judge.

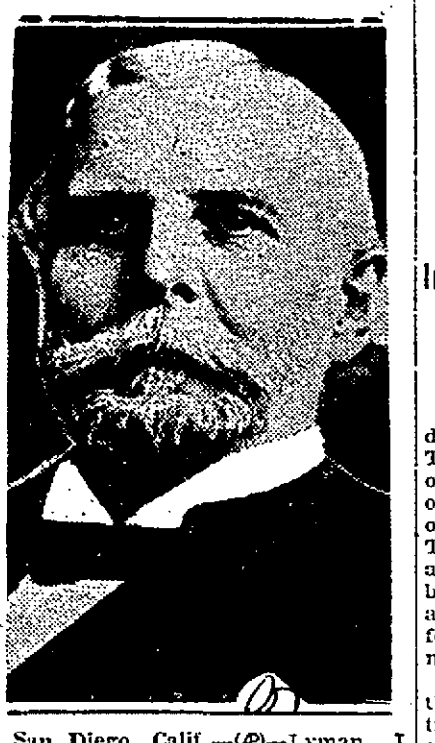

SENATORS IN ATTACK ON TAX CREDIT PLAN

Washington, D. C.—(AP)—President Coolidge's tax credit plan, presented to the senate Wednesday by Senator Reed, Democrat, Missouri, was attacked Thursday from both sides of the chamber. Senator Couzens, Republican, Michigan, said he favored immediate tax revision, but agreed that the Reed tax refund amendment to the $184,000,000 deficiency bill would enable corporations to retain part of the taxes they had collected from the people. Senator Lenroot, Republican, Wisconsin in charge of the deficiency bill, said he had opposed the president's plan immediately after it was announced last summer.

INCREASE AMOUNT OF CHAPLIN TAX LIENS

Los Angeles, Calif.—(AP)—Charles Spencer Chaplin's assets were more completely tied up, and Mrs. Chaplin's efforts to secure alimony awarded in her divorce suit government representatives filed additional liens of $500,000 for alleged delinquent income taxes against the United Artists Distributing corporation. This brings the amount of the governments' claims here up to $1,685,000.

SIX KILLED IN EXPLOSION IN MORMON HALL

Twelve Persons Seriously Injured During Basketball Game in West

Turner, Idaho—(AP)—The death toll following the explosion in the community hall here Wednesday night, was increased to seven Thursday morning when a third son of James T. McCann, janitor of the hall, died from burns and shock.

Turner, Idaho—(AP)—Six persons are dead and nearly a score injured, 12 seriously, as a result of an explosion of acetylene gas which wrecked a Mormon chapel and recreation hall here Wednesday night while a basketball game was in progress.

About 200 persons had assembled in the one-story frame building for a game between the Turner and Central Idaho teams. Shortly after the play started the lighting system failed, and witness said, some one lighted a match. A terrific explosion followed, wrecking the rear wall.

As the smoke cleared and spectators started for the rear exit at the front of the building a portion of the ceiling fell, hurling timbers and plaster into the crowd. Before the hall could be cleared the front wall collapsed. Most of the dead and many of the injured were found near this exit.

The body of James McCann, the janitor, was found in the basement where he had apparently gone to inspect the lighting system tanks. The bodies of his two sons and his brother, Brigham McCann were near the exit.

Two more bodies were identified as those of Elmer Anderson and Iral Lowe, both members of the Central team. Mrs. Lowe and Mrs. Anderson, who had accompanied their husbands to the game, were injured. Some of the injured said they were literally blown from the buildings.

Fishermen Adrift On Ice Floe Saved By Freighter

Chicago—(AP)—Three weather-worn fishermen for five days held captive by the ice that locked their tug boat in the middle of a big ice floe in lower Lake Michigan, were rescued early Thursday when the ocean-going freighter Sandmaster crushed through to their side.

The rescuers found that supplies of food dropped by aeroplane had staved off hunger, but in their desperate fight against numbing lake winds the three men were wrecking their boat for fuel when help arrived.

For 12 hours the Sandmaster charged the ice field in the dark, and at midnight flashed radio word to her lake.

OLD HOTEL IS BURNED AT MENOMINEE; LOSS $35,000

Menominee, Mich.—(AP)—The old Lumberman's hotel believed to be the oldest along the Menominee river, was destroyed by fire, believed to have started from a defective chimney Wednesday afternoon, causing a loss estimated at $35,000. The loss was partly covered by insurance. The building is declared to be more than 50 years old and was owned by John Lasalle. It is one of the remaining landmarks and was a stopping off place in the old days for loggers and lumberjacks.

ASSEMBLY IN VOTE ON EARLY CLOSE OF TERM

Ingalls Joint Resolution Would Adjourn Legislature on May 14

Madison—(AP)—The first extended debate in the assembly took place Thursday over definite postponement of the joint resolution of A. E. Smith of Viroqua, calling for abandonment of the legislative visiting committee. The debate was to no avail, however, after Eber ruled favorably on Assemblyman Peterson's point of order that as the proposal was not on printed form on the members' desks it was not legally before the assembly.

The body then decided to suspend the rules and take up the joint resolution of Assemblyman Ingalls of Racine, on early adjournment. With no debate, the measure, which if passed by the senate, will close the legislature May 14, was passed by a vote of 66 to 26.

Under this resolution, which is not expected to muster enough strength for passage in the senate, bills by members must be in by Feb. 16, bills by committees and all but appropriations bills must be in by March 9 and the final closing for presentation of members will be March 30. No bills would be bulletined for hearing after April 17, and the legislature would adjourn at noon May 14.

DEBATE ON COMMITTEE

The debate on the visiting committee brought to the floor Gamper of Medford, Schmidt of Arcadia, Hitt of Alma, Ingalls of Racine and the other Mr. Smith. The latter, with Assemblymen Gamper, Schmidt, and Hitt spoke against the indefinite postponement of the resolution.

The assembly adopted the joint resolution of Duncon, Milwaukee, asking congress to speed the Great Lakes-St. Lawrence waterway project.

Several bills were introduced Thursday morning, including Assemblyman Coleman's proposal for a unicameral legislature.

In the senate, John H. Schumann, Waterloo, introduced a bill asking that no member of the legislature, during his term, be appointed or employed in any other state office.

It was at Senator Schumann's suggestion the members named Feb. 4 as the date when they vote on memorializing congress to pass the McNary-Haugen farm bill.

TORKELSON RESIGNS FROM HIGHWAY BODY

Had His Choice Between "Manhood and Job," Commission Secretary Says

Madison—(AP)—M. W. Torkelson, secretary of the Wisconsin Highway commission for 19 years, Thursday announced his resignation from that body. In a statement given out simultaneously with the tendering of his resignation, Mr. Torkelson declared that he was taking such action as a choice between "his manhood and his job."

"I have been told," he said, "that if I will not talk and give nothing to the newspapers that I can hold my job. But I was present when John T. Donaghy, after serving the commission faithfully and well over many years, after fighting the battles of the ex-officio members of the commission in the face of the strongest political powers, had his official head cut off in cold blood. 'I saw the four members of the highway commission who did this endeavoring to overcome their natural repugnance before committing this act, and after this spectacle I cannot retain my respect for them.'"

Mr. Torkelson also charged that the "vibrant and monolithic cult of interests" would dominate the commission. His resignation followed the action of the highway commission in removing Mr. Donaghy and placing H. G. Kuelling in the office.

MINE WORKERS IN BATTLE ON POLICY

Minority Leader Charges "Vacillating Methods" of Unionizing

Indianapolis—(AP)—Administration leaders of the United Mine Workers of America Thursday prepared to meet an expected assault upon administration policies by the opposition minority. The antagonism of the minority burst forth on the floor Wednesday with spectacular demonstrations by minority leaders, lead by John Brophy, president of the Pennsylvania district.

Brophy aroused the ire of John L. Lewis, president of the union, at several points, first by making a spirited address from the platform charging "vacillating methods of unionizing the non-union fields," and by demanding a publication of local union returns from the 1924 election of international officers.

Only 100 of 550 resolutions introduced were acted upon. The delegates defeated an effort to put the miners on record in favor of the Soviet Russian government and denounced "the attempted destruction of the American labor movement" by communistic propaganda. The convention rejected approval of a labor party.

The convention refused to approve a resolution condemning the maintenance of citizens military training camps and the officers reserve corps. It voted that such matters be referred to the next convention of the A. F. of L.

W. G. T. U. ASKS OFFICIALS TO OBSERVE U. S. DRY LAW

Washington—(AP)—Strict personal observance of the prohibition law by all government officials, governors of states and public servants who have sworn loyalty to the constitution was demanded in the platform adopted Thursday by the National Woman's Christian Temperance union.

The platform also calls for increased penalties for violations of the prohibition law and demands that bootleggers be held responsible for sickness or death resulting from the sale of poisonous or contraband liquor.

GUARD CAPTAIN SCORES HIGH IN PISTOL SHOOT

Capt. E. F. Grundeman, commanding officer of Co. D, 127th Infantry, Wisconsin National guard, was high gun in the 22 calibre pistol practice of the guardsmen Wednesday evening at Army G indoor range. Lieut. Hubert J. Piette was in charge of the shooting.

Capt. Grundeman scored 287 out of a possible 300, and Corporal L. Kempf was second with a 255. Sergeant Van Teyn scored 235; Lieut. Piette, 217; Corp. Klein, 213, and Private S. Harmon, 236. Others who fired but did not complete the course are Privates E. Zuchke, Ganzen, Godin, Wingrove, Tracy, E. Dunson and F. Dunson. Friday evening Lieut. Clyde T. Schroeder will be in charge of the firing.

NORTHEAST SHIVERS IN SEVERE COLD WAVE

New York—(AP)—The entire northeast Thursday was in the grip of the most severe cold wave of the winter. Temperatures tumbled to zero and sub-zero marks in all states east of the Mississippi river except at the extreme south. A further drop was forecast for late Thursday or Friday.

The middle west also was a sufferer. Brainerd, Minn., had a temperature of 28 below, the lowest in the country. Records for the winter were shattered through New England. In New York City the temperature tumbled 23 degrees to 6 above zero in a day. In Philadelphia, within six hours, the mercury dropped from 28 degrees above to 10 below. No deaths from the cold were reported and the gale was not accompanied by snow.

BOTH PLAYERS CLEARED OF FIXING GAME

Permitted to Rescind Withdrawal and Return to Reserve Lists

DECISION JUST — LANDIS

"Decent Justice" Could Permit No Other Finding, Commissioner Says

Chicago—(AP)—Ty Cobb and Tris Speaker Thursday were cleared of all charges which might make them ineligible for participation in professional baseball, in a decision by Kenesaw Mountain Landis, and given permission to rescind their withdrawal from baseball and return to the reserve lists of the Detroit Tigers and Cleveland Indians, respectively.

Cobb and Speaker appeared before Commissioner Landis, Nov. 27, 1926, and were informed that Dutch Leonard, retired pitcher, formerly with Detroit, had turned over letters to the American league stating that the game of Sept. 25, 1919, between Detroit and Cleveland had been fixed. Cobb, Speaker and Smoky Joe Wood branded the charge as false after they learned that Leonard had included them as parties to the arrangement.

LANDIS' DECISION

"This is the Cobb-Speaker case" said the decision by Commissioner Landis. These players have not been; nor are they now, found guilty of fixing a ball game. By no decent system of justice could such finding be made. Therefore, they were not placed on the ineligible list. As their desire to rescind their withdrawal from baseball, the releases which the Detroit and Cleveland clubs granted at their request in its circumstances detailed above, are cancelled and these players names are restored to the reserve lists of these clubs."

Neither Cobb nor Speaker was present Thursday when Leslie O'Connor, secretary to Commissioner Landis, passed out the typewritten sheets of the commissioner's decision, nor were they represented by counsel. Commissioner Landis was in his offices earlier, but left shortly before the decision was given out.

REQUESTED DECISION

The decision Thursday was in response to a request from Cobb and Speaker that their baseball status be defined. This request was in contemplation of possible future service and in accordance with the commissioner's statement of Dec. 1926, when he said: "These men being out of baseball, a decision will be made unless changed conditions in the future require it." Proceeding that announcement both players had been released.

The decision pointed out that the mere announcement of charges of the character placed against Cobb and Speaker, whatever the personality of motives of the accusers, or the severity or even absence of evidence supporting the charges, would be harmful to the accused players, experience having shown that a vindication by baseball authority, based upon a manifest insufficiency or even a total failure of supporting proof, had been labelled a "white wash."

SPEAKER'S STATEMENT

Cleveland, O.—(AP)—Tris Speaker, in a brief statement to the Associated Press Thursday said he was very well pleased with the decision of Commissioner Landis clearing him of the Dutch Leonard charges and declared he expects to be in harness next season to prove to the baseball world "that he is the Tris Speaker of old."

Speaker however, said that his plans are indefinite and that he has no idea which team he may be playing with next season. Any likelihood that Speaker would return to his old position in the Cleveland Indians' center field, but minus the role of manager, was virtually dispelled in a statement issued by E. S. Barnard, president of the Cleveland club.

Barnard said that he was jubilant over Landis' decision that the Cleveland club never wanted him to resign, but it would be unfair and unwise to ask Speaker to play center field with the Indians now.

NEW YORKERS IN SEVERE COLD WAVE

New York—(AP)—The entire northeast Thursday was in the grip of the most severe cold wave of the winter. Temperatures tumbled to zero and sub-zero marks in all states east of the Mississippi river except at the extreme south. A further drop was forecast for late Thursday or Friday.

PROBE COMMITTEE PUTS ITS O. K. ON RACINE SHOE PLANT

Recommends That $25,000 Be Provided to Pay Costs of Moving Equipment

The M. T. Shaw Inc. Racine shoe manufacturers is a sound and reliable firm and Appleton would be justified in paying $25,000 toward its moving expenses providing it would locate here it was reported by the special citizens committee which investigated the company. The report was submitted to the industrial committee of the common council at a special meeting at the city hall Wednesday evening.

Because the industrial committee desired further information Mayor A. C. Rule will call a special meeting of both committees late this week or early next week. The report of citizens group then will be considered.

Members of the industrial committee are Aldermen Mark Catlin, Fred Wenzel, Wenzel Hassman and Mayor Rule. This committee investigated various manufacturing companies which were seeking new headquarters and decided on the M. T. Shaw company as the most favorable.

The special citizens investigating committee was appointed by Mayor Rule after a public meeting.

The Shaw company is asking a factory building with 25,000 square feet of floor space and the expenses of moving from Racine to Appleton.

The committee made a thorough investigation of the company, including the quality of its product, its method of manufacture, the personnel of its management, its stability as a going manufacturing enterprise, its financial status, the general quality of its productive employees, its standing with the Racine banks and city government, with business enterprises generally in Racine and other minor questions which would have a bearing on its desirability as an industrial enterprise for Appleton.

The report follows:

"First: That M. T. Shaw, Inc., enjoys a sound and satisfactory position in the shoe manufacturing trade and as such would make an acceptable addition to Appleton's industrial enterprises.

"Second: For the purpose of enabling the company to transfer its plant and activities to Appleton, Appleton commercial enterprise would be justified in paying M. T. Shaw Inc. $25,000 as a fair estimate of said company of the cost of moving its business to Appleton, and your committee unanimously recommends the payment of such an item. Your committee's understanding is that it was not asked to devise ways and means for providing the $25,000 referred to; hence no suggestion is made on that score.

"Third: Your committee also unanimously recommends that the City of Appleton government, the Appleton Real Estate board, the Appleton Chamber of Commerce, and the citizens generally, render to the company every gratuitous assistance possible to enable it to establish itself in a suitable and adequate factory in Appleton.

"Fourth: Your committee believes that any payment in excess of the estimated reasonable moving expenses is of the nature of a subsidy, and is not sound as an economic principle, and recommends that such subsidizing be not encouraged.

force to be used by Britain at Shanghai will not be joined by American military forces, though 32 American warships remain in territorial waters to carry off refugees.

HOPES TO SOOTHE CHINA

President Coolidge hopes that the memorandum issued by Secretary Kellogg reiterating the policy of the United States will have a soothing effect on the Chinese elements which have risen to drive foreigners out. The United States has always pursued a liberal policy toward China and in the present emergency the American government's record stands out as unimpeachable to any of the Chinese groups. Not only has the United States declared itself ready to agree to the imposition of the much mooted surtaxes on customs but is ready also to give up extra territorial rights as soon as Chinese courts are established to afford justice to foreigners.

"The official excuse given for the present mix-up is that the powers cannot put into effect the tragedies they have outlined until some central government arises capable of fulfilling international obligations. The suggestion is heard, however, that the two

TRADES COUNCIL OPPOSES CHANGE IN SCHOOL LAWS

Adopt Resolution Against Revisions Urged by Wisconsin County Judges

Appleton Trades and Labor council went on record at its meeting Wednesday night opposing any legislation intended to change the present state vocational school law following a declaration by Henry Ohls of Milwaukee, president of the Wisconsin Federation of Labor, that a change would seriously affect the workman. The council adopted a resolution which will be presented to the state legislature.

Mr. Ohls told of the decision of county judges at their recent convention at Milwaukee to appeal to the state legislature to change the law so that the county judges could use discretion in forcing boys and girls over 16 years of age to attend school one day a week.

"This is the only chance these boys and girls have for education and the state federation of Labor is absolutely opposed to any change. In fact we will urge the legislature to make the laws more stringent," Mr. Ohls declared. He said all unions in the state would adopt similar resolutions and present them to the legislature.

Mike Blich was elected delegate of the local council on the Wisconsin legislative committee representing the unions of the state. Each union elects a representative and these men will meet at Madison on Feb. 18 and 19 to draft legislation and present it to the legislature.

principal groups in China which have been fighting each other are united on the policy that ought to be pursued toward the foreign powers. It is evident too that some of the outside powers are not ready to give up extra territorial rights or to agree to the higher customs duties.

PLAY LONE HAND

Under the circumstances, the United States is compelled to play a lone hand. Secretary Kellogg's statement is intended to convince the Chinese leaders that America is not objecting to their demands for tariff autonomy and the relinquishment of extra territoriality. But meanwhile there are a million Chinese in Shanghai who are being roused against the foreign population. The British are preparing to land a large force of troops. The United States will not join these forces unless something unforeseen happens. The fear expressed here is that in the general mix-up Americans and British will be confused. There is uneasiness in British circles here because the United States is permitting the British forces to protect American property without corresponding assistance. During the Boxer outbreak, American troops actually were allied with those of the European powers under a single command. So there is precedent for an allied relief force and this may be the ultimate outcome, but

B. AND L. CLUBS GROW 30 MILLIONS

Investments in Home Financing Organizations Grow by Leaps and Bounds

Madison—(AP)—An increase of $30,000,000 in Wisconsin building and loan investments during 1926 has broken the records of that type of investment. Clyde P. Diezels, supervisor of state building and loan associations said here Wednesday.

"This last year total investments in our state amounted to approximately 150 millions of dollars. In 1920, the fourth year of building and loan existence, the total was only $3,500,000. The increase from 1920 to 1926 was an average one but during the last six years the growth has amounted to from 20 to 30 millions each year.

Wisconsin, with Milwaukee in the lead, divides the $180,000,000 among 171 associations throughout the state and none of the money in any association is loaned out on first mortgages to homes further than 50 miles from the building and loan headquarters.

Mrs. John Wissman has returned home after a few weeks visit in Milwaukee.

PLENTY OF PLOT IN BAND'S MUSIC SHOW

"Mary Lou" Has Something to It Besides Songs and Pretty Girls

A henpecked husband, a philanthropic wife and a pretty music hall singer are the characters building up the brief but skilfully hidden plot in "Mary Lou", musical comedy to be given at the Biograph Theatre Feb. 14, 15 and 16 for the benefit of the 120th Field Artillery band. The denouement of the amusing theme is not made until the end of the final act.

Leander Lamb, played by J. P. Danmister, is the much used target of his wife's energy. Mrs. Bertha Barry as the wife, is interested in charities. She carefully guards her husband from any pleasure, desired or otherwise.

Prominently displayed in their home is a large knife, framed and especially lighted, and known as the "Shrine of Virtue". The knife story relates how Mrs. Lamb used the implement to discourage a too ardent suitor before her marriage.

The husband becomes interested in a former music hall singer, Mary Lou, played by Miss Violet Foster. Through a series of misunderstandings and the aid of a Negro servant, the henpecked gentleman meets her at the studio of an artist friend. They are discovered by Mrs. Lamb, whose husband pretends to be walking in his sleep. The pretense is believed by Mrs. Lamb. A short time later, he is again discovered in an embrace with the girl and the somnambulist excuse fails. At this moment, there arrives an old school mate of Lamb's from Idaho. He is the ardent suitor of the knife episode. But the incident is described with so great a variation from Mrs. Lamb's story that the husband gains the upper hand. The wife is confronted with her past and is rejuvenated.

FLORIDA BUSINESS IS QUIET, VISITOR FINDS

Florida is quiet, there are few tourists, but business will come back eventually, is the opinion of William H. Zuehlke, postmaster and treasurer of the Aid Association for Lutherans, who returned Wednesday evening from a trip through the southern state. One of the astonishing features of the state is the number of newspapers. Mr. Zuehlke said. In cities of 4,000 and 5,000 there are daily papers, and in places of 15,000 there are often two dailies which print Sunday editions.

Mr. Zuehlke was traveling most of the time he was in the south, making as many as five or six towns in one day. He made the journey for the aid association.

BRIDGE CONTRACT MAY STOP PAYING OF MASON STREET

Dig Up City's Agreement to Pay for Maintenance of Mason-st Viaduct

Appleton will have to pay the entire cost of any changes which are made in the Chicago and Northwestern railroad viaduct over S. Mason-st, it was disclosed at a meeting of the board of public works of the common council, officials of the C. and N. W. Ry., and the W. T. L. H. and P. company at the city hall Wednesday morning.

Original contracts between the city and the railroad company when the viaduct was built were presented by J. A. Dyer of Green Day, division engineer of the road, showing that the city had agreed to forever pay the expense of upkeep of the bridge. This means that if any change is made in the bridge this year the city will be obliged to pay the entire cost.

The common council at a special meeting Monday night asked the board of public works to confer with officials of the railroad relative to changing the viaduct to remove the supporting tier which now divides the road beneath the bridge. This is to be done so that the street car line could be placed in the center of the street when it is paved in spring.

The discovery of this clause in the contract puts a new aspect on the Mason-st paving project and it may be possible that it will have to be abandoned for a year. Mr. Dyer refused to make any estimate as to the cost of changing the bridge because, he said, only a bridge engineer could give an approximate figure.

If the bridge costs approximately $15,000 and the city must pay it all, in addition to paying for surfacing the street car section of the pavement and the street intersections, the 1927 budget, is not sufficient for so large an expenditure, and it is possible that the paving plans may have to be abandoned, Mayor Rile said.

Alfredman C. D. Thompson, a member of the board of public works, suggested that the money for repairing the bridge be taken from the paving fund this year and the paving be postponed for another year. He didn't think the taxpayers would object when they understand the conditions. Mr. Thompson also suggested that S. Mason-st be paved from W. College-ave to W. Spencer-st and that the section from W. Spencer-st to W. Prospect-ave be allowed to remain as it is for another year.

No action will be taken by the committee until the railroad engineer has given an estimate of the cost of the change.

"A" CLUB TO PATROL ARMORY DURING GAMES

Patrolling of Armory G at Appleton high school basketball games will be done by the "A" club, it was decided at a meeting of the group Wednesday morning with H. H. Heible, principal. The Fond du Lac game Friday evening will be the first on the club's schedule.

A program of names and lineups of the competing teams will be published by the club for the Fond du Lac game and future meets. These will be sold at the games. The club also will sponsor the Neenah Appleton game Feb. 25. A stunt will be prepared to be presented to the student body and tags will be sold. George Gobelacher was appointed to take charge of the tag sale.

The first "A" club dance will be held April 23 at the school. Committees were appointed by Alois Liethen, president, Carl Kuntz and Charles Schaefer will have charge of the music and Dan Steinberg of the finances. Reuben Getchow and Melvin Heintz were appointed to have charge of the score board at the armory during high school games.

At the close of the meeting the club picture was taken for the Clarion, school year book. The group stood before the east door of the building.

Rummage Sale, 9 A. M., Fri. 327 W. Col. Ave., Upstairs. Good Bargains.

STUDENTS WILL NOT BUY TALKING MACHINE

Purchase of a talking machine will not be sponsored by the student council of Appleton high school for the present at least, the group decided at a meeting held Tuesday afternoon with H. H. Heible, principal. The cost of such a machine is too large a responsibility for the council to undertake, it was believed.

Questionnaires will be distributed to the student body soon to ask for suggestions for work the student council might do for the school. How to improve its present work and service also will be asked.

A resolution was passed against school and class jewelry. This was in keeping with the tradition of the school, established several years ago not to have senior class rings or pins, and was re-emphasized this year when the senior class voted not to have jewelry.

Plans were made for an action picture of the group to be published in

FEWER FAILURES IN HIGH SCHOOL WORK

Teachers Find Way to Reduce Quantity of Below Grade Work

Neenah—In checking over the number of failures for the first semester which ended last week at the local high school it was found that there was a low number of failures among the students whose marks were recently recorded in the superintendent's office. This was also true of last quarter's work. In the senior class of '26 enrolled, there were only 4 failures; in the junior class of '26 enrolled only 14 failures; in the sophomore class of '26 enrolled 16 failures; in the most remarkable in the freshman class of '26 enrolled, only 10 failures. The general utility period each day has helped a great deal in reducing the number of failures as it provides for an extra study period under supervision. The contract method of teaching has also helped. Supt. J. E. Kitzowski is now working on the supervised study plan for next year's organization. This plan also has proven that the number of failures can be reduced.

A CHILD DOESN'T LAUGH AND PLAY IF CONSTIPATED

Look, Mother! Is tongue coated, breath feverish and stomach sour?

"California Fig Syrup" can't harm tender stomach, liver, bowels

A laxative today saves a sick child tomorrow. Children simply will not take the time from play to empty their bowels, which become clogged up with waste, liver gets sluggish, stomach, sour. Look at the tongue, mother! If coated, or your child is listless, cross, feverish, breath bad, restless, doesn't eat heartily, full of cold or has sore throat or any other children's ailment, give a teaspoonful of "California Fig Syrup," then don't worry, because it is perfectly harmless, and in a few hours all this constipation poison, sour bile and fermenting waste will gently move out of the bowels, and you have a well, playful child again. A thorough "inside cleansing" is oftentimes all that is necessary. It should be the first treatment given in any sickness. Beware of counterfeit fig syrups. Ask your druggist for a bottle of "California Fig Syrup," which has full directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups plainly printed on the bottle. Look carefully and see that it is made by the "California Fig Syrup Company."

MAJOR PORTION OF SOCIALIST PROGRAM TAKING BILL FORM

Bill Repealing Public Utilities
Act Ready for Clerk's Desk

Madison —(AP)—The major portion of the socialist program in the assembly is quickly taking bill form. The Milwaukee representatives of that political faith Thursday revealed some of the major proposals that will soon be before the assembly.

The two proposals now ready to go on the clerk's desk are the bills repealing the public utilities act and unicameral legislature proposal.

The first, a bill to be introduced by Assemblyman Weller, will remove the jurisdiction over public utilities other than telephone companies and railroads from the railroad commission, placing the government of corporations dealing in water, gas, electric light and power and running street cars, in the hands of the city governments in which they operate.

It grows out of the one-man street car situation in Milwaukee, and the regulation of municipally owned public utilities should be regulated entirely by the municipality.

"The bill," Mr. Coleman said, would allow cities of the first class to regulate their own public utilities. It would not abolish the railroad commission, but would take away from it the power to regulate all of the public utilities of the state."

The unicameral legislative proposal, by Mr. Coleman, would necessitate a constitutional amendment. This amendment, passed twice by the legislature, would refer to the voters the question of the state senate, making the assembly the sole legislative branch of the government.

The socialist members, in line with their platform, also feel that the referendum machinery is now cumbersome; that when a measure to amend the constitution is passed by the legislature once, that is sufficient assurance that the legislature is in favor of it. A bill now being framed and to be presented by some member of the "Cherokee strip" would follow this idea, making it necessary for the legislature to pass a constitution amending proposal only once before it is referred to the people.

A fourth proposal soon to be ready for instruction would establish a centrally located super-power electric plant to supply electric light and power to the homes and industries of Wisconsin at cost of production. This state-owned power plant is possible, in the opinion of Assemblyman Coleman, who said that "there are lots of water sites in the state that have not been grabbed up yet where there is sufficient power to generate a state super-power current."

Another socialist bill will be presented to increase the functions of the state insurance fund. This insurance would be extended to cover fire risks and to cover private property in cities and towns. The present law permits insurance of only life and public property. The socialist proposal would also include state hail and tornado insurance.

The state fund for workmen's compensation would become solely a state fund under the sixth socialist proposal. At present the workmen are compensated for injury and their widows are paid insurance by private companies working under the order of the industrial commission. The socialist bill, when framed, would establish a state insurance fund, taking the business away from the various group insurance companies.

"When this law went into effect there were only a few companies interested," Mr. Coleman, speaking for the group, said today. "Now there are fifty-four insurance companies dealing in workmen's compensation in Wisconsin. It shows that the law is making some companies a profit and we believe that this should be turned into a pure state institution, rather than only governed by the state."

"One of our other platform following bills will be one allowing the state, counties, and towns to cooperate in securing the funds from reforested lands that are leased or sold," Mr. Coleman concluded.

10-CENT CAMPAIGN FUND

PLAN DETENTION ROOM FOR TARDY STUDENTS

A detention room for tardy pupils was established at Appleton high school at a meeting of home room teachers of the school with H. H. Helbie, principal. A student who comes late to school, to home room meetings or to classes will be required to study from 3:45 to 4:45 that afternoon. Miss Louise Bucholtz will have charge of the class.

SEEK PROPOSALS TO BUILD PAVILION IN PIERCE PARK

Revolving Sounding Board for Bandstand Will Be One of Its Features

A revolving sounding board will be one of the features of the band stand which will be constructed in Pierce park next spring at a cost of between $18,000 and $20,000, according to E. J. Zuehlke of the Park board. Local contractors are preparing bids which must be in by Feb. 1, according to Mr. Zuehlke. It is expected that the contract will be awarded shortly after that date.

The revolving sounding board will enable a band to give either indoor or outdoor concerts, thus in case of rain on the night of a scheduled band concert, it will not be necessary to postpone the program. The revolving sounding board will be so constructed that when turned in one position the music can be plainly heard throughout the park and when turned another way the music will be thrown into the interior of the band pavilion, which is to be constructed.

The new building is to be 100 feet long and 50 feet wide and one story in height with a basement for storing chairs and tables. The sides of the building are to be so constructed that they can be removed during the summer and stored in the basement and can be replaced in the fall. In the rear of the building will be two rest rooms, one for men and one for women.

The floor of the building will be of concrete and the roof will be constructed with the modern thatch effect to give the building a rustic appearance and make it fit in with its surroundings. It is hoped to have the building started early in spring when other improvements at the park are completed.

SALTS FINE FOR ACHING KIDNEYS

When Back Hurts, Flush Your Kidneys—You Can
Your Bowels

Most folks forget that the kidneys like the bowels, sometimes get sluggish and clogged and need a flushing occasionally, else we have backache and dull misery in the kidney region, severe headaches, rheumatic twinges, torpid liver, acid stomach, sleeplessness and all sorts of bladder disorders. You simply must keep your kidneys active and clean and the moment you feel an ache or pain in the kidney region begin drinking lots of water. Also get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any good drug store here, take a tablespoonful in a glass of water, before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and is intended to flush clogged kidneys and help stimulate them to activity. It also helps neutralize the acids in the urine so they no longer irritate, thus helping to relieve bladder disorders.

Jad Salts is inexpensive, makes a delightful effervescent litton water drink which everybody should take now and then to help keep their kidneys clean.

A well-known local druggist says he sells lots of Jad Salts to folks who believe in trying to correct kidney trouble while it is only trouble. adv.

TESTING CATTLE DECREASES HUMAN T. B. DEATH RATE

Extinction of Bovine Tuberculosis Would Aid Humans, Says Doctor

The decrease of bovine tuberculosis is largely responsible for the lower death rate of humans from the disease, Dr. T. L. Harrington of the Wisconsin Anti-tuberculosis association, said in an address on Bovine and Human Tuberculosis at the Wednesday morning convocation services at Lawrence college held at Lawrence Memorial chapel.

Wisconsin is the leading dairy state in the country and will continue to be so, the speaker believed, partly because bovine tuberculosis has been so thoroughly stamped out. The disease in cattle is easily communicable to humans and to other animals and is therefore a factor in the fight against human tuberculosis. As long as we insist on milk as an essential part of diet, we must see that it is free from disease germs. Dr. Harrington continued. Families, particularly children, may be infected with tuberculosis, especially bone consumption, through infected milk, he said. Since greater care has been taken to have pure milk the number of cases of bone tuberculosis in children has been greatly diminished, he stated.

The death rate from tuberculosis in Wisconsin has decreased from 107 deaths per every 100,000 population in 1908 to 62 deaths per every 100,000 in 1925, the doctor cited. He used charts of statistics to show the fight to win against the disease in the state.

Education and willingness to find out about ourselves has helped in the decrease of deaths from the disease.

"For several years my health has been failing me and I was getting skinny as a fence rail but this great Drecko medicine soon put me on my feet again and made me feel so much better I got thru my harvest this year in better shape than ever." Hundreds in the section know the worth of these words. He is Mr. Charles P. Howard, the well-known farmer living at Hortonville, a suburb of Appleton, and his signed and witnessed statement was given to the Drecko man at Schlitz Bros. Drug Store who is now meeting local folks.

"Before taking Drecko I could not eat a hearty meal the gas and pains in my stomach were so bad. Sometimes I was so swollen up I thought I would burst open and I was always constipated and had a heavy loaded feeling in my abdomen. I suffered from headaches and backaches and slept so poorly at night I got up in the morning feeling like I hadn't been in bed for a week. All this tended to make me lose weight and I got so thin my friends kidded me and said I looked like a skeleton. I spent a small fortune on medicines but it just seemed that nothing was made that would help me.

"Then my wife and I read of Drecko

LAWRENCE WILL GET 3 ART EXHIBITS ANNUALLY

Three art exhibits a year will be secured at Lawrence college through its recent affiliation with the American Federation of Arts located in Washington, D. C. An exhibit of prints of famous artists was made through the federation this fall at Russell Sage hall. Probably one other exhibit will be presented here in March. Prof. Otto P. Fairfield of the art department at the college, stated.

The affiliation entitles the college besides the exhibits to copies of the American Magazine of Art and the right to send a delegate to the National Convention on Art. Oil paintings as well as prints probably will be secured through the federation in the future. The college is handicapped at the present time in that it has no suitable place for such an exhibit. Prof. Fairfield said. A showing of oil paintings through the federation is now at the Sawyer museum in Oshkosh.

he stated. The purpose of the clinics sponsored by the association, is to demonstrate the value of physical examinations, he concluded.

BROKEN REST Caused by Bladder Irritation Is Nature's Danger Signal

C. R. Kidney, Ontario, N. Y. says: "Lithiated Buchu has done more for me than all other remedies combined. Some days I had almost a constant desire with a terrible burning sensation. Would be bothered about six times at night. Will tell or write my experience to any one." Don't take habit or be forced continually to aid nature. Lithiated Buchu, (Keller Formula) acts on the bladder as opson salts do on the bowels. Drives out foreign matter, decreases excessive acids, thereby relieving irritation. The tablets cost 2c each at drug stores. Keller Laboratory, Meacham, Inc., Ohio. Locally at Veigt Drug Co. adv.

I now feel better than in years and can now eat like a hungry bear without suffering the least, but with my stomach afterwards. My bowels are regular, the headaches and backaches have been relieved, I sleep soundly all night long and am no longer grouchy like I used to be. Best of all I am putting on lots of much needed weight and, in fact, since taking Drecko I both look and feel like a different man."

THE CRISIS IN CHINA

The crisis in China is of the highest international importance. Great events are taking place there, aside from the coercive measures undertaken by Great Britain to uphold its concessions, involving not only the whole of China's political future but a conflict of interests between Great Britain, Russia and Japan. Soviet diplomacy and propaganda are already strongly entrenched in South China, where the bolsheviks are giving the Cantonese nationalists valuable aid and advice. In Manchuria they are spreading disaffection against the Mukden war lord, Chang Tso-lin, who is at the head of North China and whose forces sooner or later will come in conflict with the Cantonese for the control of all China.

Russia is credited with trying to bring about an Asiatic league of nations, having already concluded treaties with Turkey, Persia and Afghanistan which, while secret, are believed to be a step toward this end. She wants an alliance with or domination over China, in order to consolidate Asia against Great Britain and the European powers whom she fears in the west. Russia's fight is with Great Britain rather than Japan, for her purposes in China are crossed principally by Great Britain, and British power in western Asia prevents her from securing a port outlet to the southern seas.

Japan is playing a game as stupendous and farsighted as either of her rivals. Some oriental observers believe she is out-classing Great Britain. She has adopted a "friendship policy" toward China, which means avoiding political clashes at all costs and the settling of differences privately and quickly. It is said she is even prepared to surrender concessions and extra-territorial rights if necessary to keep the good will of China. She has refused to cooperate with Great Britain in the landing of troops at Shanghai or elsewhere to protect concessions. Japan sees the drift, she knows that foreign territorial and political holdings in China must one day be surrendered. She has no intention of fighting to preserve these rights. Japan is looking to the time when the storehouses of China's incalculable undeveloped wealth will be opened to her tradesmen and capitalists, and to her government in the hour of need. She is profiting by her experience in Shantung, which the Chinese have been slow to forget. She is going to keep on the good side of her giant neighbor, giving up bounties today that will be trivial in comparison with the prizes she hopes to reap in the future. She would probably consent even to an abolition of treaties not based on the equality of both contracting parties, such as is demanded by the Kuomintang, or the so-called Peoples' party, the chief vehicle of the true nationalist movement.

British policy has been the reverse of that of Japan. It has made a diplomatic incident of trivial collisions with the Chinese. It is in its present boat because of this attitude. It proposes to defend concessions and extra-territoriality with warships and troops. Japan will not join in such a demonstration. She will protect her nationals at Shanghai and elsewhere against a possible anti-foreign uprising, but not her goods and chattels. Great Britain must go it alone in using force against the Chinese. Already her dispatch of troops in large numbers to China has aroused resentment throughout that country. Undoubtedly North and South China would unite to resist British occupation and force, later to separate and fight out their differences. America will remain a passive bystander, except to protect its own nationals in an emergency. It is not for the United States to pass judgment on British policies at this time, but it is plain they may lead to crucial developments and may even prove disastrous to British interests. It is an exceedingly grave situation and British opinion is by no means united. The labor party is opposed to the government's Asiatic policy, and it is not unlikely it will make itself felt to the extent of forcing a modification of that policy.

At best, therefore, England is setting out on a precarious mission. If there were a central and responsible government in China to deal with, her methods might be more effective. She could take Peking, or any other city that might be the seat of government, or port, but she cannot subdue a China whose forces are scattered all over the empire and whose political authority is divided in many different directions. There is also the danger of present success, and future disaster. The British may know what they are about, they have dealt with China so long; and yet there is the danger that because of this fact British statesmen may have a less modern understanding of China and what is going on there than her two principal rivals. She may be playing into the hands of both Russia and Japan. One thing is certain, conciliation will accomplish more than force.

ARBITRATION IN MEXICO

The senate has voted 79 to nothing its approval of the Robinson resolution endorsing arbitration of the controversy with Mexico. This places the senate on record as favoring arbitration of such questions as the right of the Mexican, or any other government, to expropriate property of American citizens lawfully acquired. In some respects it is a questionable proposition, and it may turn out to be a damaging doctrine. The government's refusal to recognize Russia is founded in part on the soviet's confiscation of American property and repudiation of contract or bond obligations. It has been unwilling to arbitrate the issue with Russia. It has proceeded on the theory that confiscation without compensation is not subject to arbitration. The amount of compensation for expropriated properties is of course an arbitrable question, and we have a claims commission dealing with such matters in Mexico, but this is wholly beside the matter of confiscation without compensation.

Secretary Kellogg has been reported to be favorable to the principle of arbitration, but that is a long way from arbitration itself. Certainly we could arbitrate only under an agreement that established rules of international law are to govern, and that it must be by a tribunal itself functioning under such rules. The question is whether it is better to submit to arbitration something we believe to be inherently non-arbitrable, or to go to greater lengths to impose our demands for justice and fair dealing upon Mexico.

Senator King of Utah said in the senate the other day that "the American people are not disposed to protect American lives and property abroad." We think this is a perfectly accurate statement of public opinion. The American people are overwhelmingly against the application of force in Mexico. We know of nobody who wants to go down there and fight, either for American lives or property. Deploable as the fact may appear in contrast with former psychology of the American mind, we nevertheless think it is a sound attitude, at least in so far as property is involved. We can see no reason for sacrificing American lives for all the investments we have in Mexico. Let those who think otherwise be the first to volunteer for such a service.

But obviously government relation with a nation which confiscates property and permits the massacre of nationals of other country cannot proceed on any such basis. We must either demand of Mexico protection to the lives of our nationals and respect for their property rights, going so far as to land troops to save life if necessary, or we must sever diplomatic relations and have nothing to do with her. It is a toss-up which is the better policy, this or arbitration. The president and state department will have to decide. The senate's vote obligates them to do nothing. Even the proposed vote against severing diplomatic relations would be of no force. It is a difficult situation no matter from what angle it is approached. There are some things, and they are important, which would seem to recommend a break with Mexico without war, in preference to arbitration. The latter course would be equivalent to serving notice on Americans that future investments and future residence in other countries would be solely at their own risk and peril. On the other hand, it is not entirely too much to expect that Mexico might be brought to a healthier state of mind and a better disposition toward foreigners by severing diplomatic relations.

THE INHIBITION BLUES

The secondary "binding" effect of certain familiar physics such as castor oil is pretty generally recognized even by people who imagine a frequent or habitual use of such physics is a good way to combat constipation.

I would a thousand times rather tell a lie or drop a hint than our best advertiser is telling one or even utter a biting sarcasm than print bad news or a bargain lot of symptoms, but this constipation habit is so common and so demoralizing that it can do no harm and may do some good to impress upon victims the fact that it is nothing but a habit, a weak and depraved habit, a habit which one deliberately cultivates and which, once established, tends to perpetuate itself.

Here's where the influence of inhibition comes in. Inhibition is a function, not just a ponderous term, but difficult to explain nevertheless. On steam engines there is a fly wheel. On gasoline engines there is a fly wheel. These gadgets serve to control, restrain or steady the working of the engine. The heart has one set of nerves which tend to speed up action, and another set which inhibit or slow down the heart beat. The alimentary tube, particularly the intestine, has one set of nerves which convey impulses to speed up peristalsis or the waves of contraction by which the muscular contents of the intestine propel the food mass or residue along the canal. Fine and delicate—this conveying nervous mechanism is justly popular but nobody would want to be afflicted with such a mechanism were it not for the restraining, controlling, steadying or inhibiting influence of another set of nerves which keep these peristaltic movements from becoming too ambitious or going too far.

The inhibition apparatus of the alimentary tube is of course wholly involuntary, just as is the inhibition apparatus of the heart, and fortunate we are that it is beyond conscious control, for otherwise we would probably make a sad mess of it, with our irrepressible fondness for monkeying with delicate mechanisms which we do not understand.

Although inhibition of the bowel is beyond conscious control it is readily responsive to emotional conditions and to the by effects of many drugs which are popularly used as laxatives.

For example, fright may paralyze inhibition to the degree of incontinence, whereas slight fear or anxiety generally excites excessive restraint. Thus the very practice of watching and waiting and worrying about defecation tends to increase inhibition and favor constipation. On the other hand a state of indifference or unconcern as to whether the bowels move today or not, and especially a cheerful, optimistic indifference, such as one may derive from a knowledge of physiology, permits nature to manage this function in the normal manner.

Not only castor oil and saline laxatives or cathartics but also the crude physics derived from herbs or medicinal plants are notorious for producing next day inhibition, so that every little dose of your favorite physic may be said to add a little more constipation to what you've already got.

This explains the numerous "fortunes" which have been made in the physic industry. Un-sophisticated customers just die on inhibition.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

No Diet List

You said that if a certain correspondent would write and tell you he had Bright's disease you would send a list of things he should eat and should not eat. (Mrs. A. M. H.)

Answer—No, you misunderstood what I said. I said if the correspondent would write, inclosing a stamped envelope bearing his address, and telling me he had Bright's disease, I would send him some general advice on the subject. This general advice touches upon the question of diet, but in no case can I give a "diet list" telling a correspondent what he may or may not eat or what he should or should not eat, no matter what the trouble may be. That is mere hokum, which we had better leave to life insurance concerns, quack doctors and patent medicine firms. No one but the patient's individual medical adviser can intelligently prescribe a diet. Any cut and dried diet lists are worth rather less than the paper they are printed on.

Announcement was made that morning that an Appleton man had agreed to give Lawrence college $25,000 providing Appleton citizens would give a like amount in order to secure a combination chapel-auditorium, and locate the building in such a way as to occupy the entire Patten property in the block on College-ave, Washington-st and Park-ave. The proposed new building was to cost between $75,000 and $100,000.

Another One of Those Slow-Moving Games

HASKIN WRITES TODAY

ON—

SIGNS OF THE TIMES

Washington, D. C. — On the door of a fish market down by the wharves in Washington is a sign — "No use breaking in Sent money to bank." On the safe in the local office of a great national corporation is the lettered invitation, "It's not locked; help yourself."

These are what might be termed signs of the times. They reflect the reaction of business men to conditions which they can not combat and over which the police have little or no control. Why bolt the door when it can be jammed so easily? Why lock the safe when it can be opened like a child's bank or a can of soup? Why try to protect whatever of value you have when it can't be done? Why not invite the unwelcome guests to help themselves, and make it as easy as possible for them to do that? They'll get it, anyhow so why not hand it to them?

And save the safe; That sounds like an Irish lull, and perhaps it is, but is the motto in many establishments between the Atlantic and the Pacific. Any regular office or business house must have a safe. It's a part of the scenery without which the show just go over. A safe suggests assets. It is there to guard something of great value. Conversely, if there is no safe, then there is nothing about the place worth having. But why have a safe when it is cracked or blown open every few weeks and ultimately ruined.

Time was, too, when safes were safe. Yeggmen and pormen confined their operations to banks and an occasional post office. The steel cubes that stood in the rear of small stores and in the back room in offices were immune. The professionals looked upon tapping them much as a Cleopatra would regard the enticings of a college freshman — mere credit snatches. But, came the war, came prohibition, and came whatever else it is that contributes to present day lawless conditions. Brigandage, banditry and burglary flourish. Old-fashioned operators with pride in their profession, who would no more think of cracking a safe in a delicatessen than they would of attacking the poor-box in a church with a can opener, have been largely superseded by a new school of outlaws who have no inhibitions.

ALL THEY WANT IS MONEY

They go after anything that has money in it, in whatever amount. Where the yegg of the good old days would never tackle a job unless it held out the promise of all the cash of a prosperous bank — loot that could be counted by the thousands — the modern thief is glad to have a try at a crib that may yield only a few hundreds.

Moreover, he has learned that small shop keepers and chain stores at certain times in the week or in the month have considerable sums of money on hand and are ripe for plucking, and that as a rule the safes are pitifully easy to open, with no burglar alarms to get thwarted for avoided, and no nightwatchmen always on the job, even though occasionally napping. Hence it is that practically every city in the country has had an unusual number of burglaries in small business establishments.

In Washington, the safe in one office has been cracked four times within two years and thieves have played several return engagements at various chain stores. In one instance, apparently finding the safe a bit difficult to negotiate they loaded it into a truck and hauled it out into the country where they could operate on it at their leisure. It is this sort of thing that has led business men to leave their doors and their safes unlocked and to advertise the fact to nocturnal visitors.

Nor is this prevailing on the smaller business establishments confined to safe-cracking. In many cases, the thieves are hold-up artists who march boldly into stores and shops in broad daylight and at the point of a pistol demand the contents of the cash register or money drawer. They are the most dangerous kind of criminals, they shoot at the slightest provocation, and shoot to kill. Up until a few years ago burglars and highwaymen carried revolvers primarily for purposes of intimidation and they never shot anyone unless they were cornered, and rarely even then. They did not relish the idea of facing a jury on a charge of homicide or attempted homicide. The later generations of outlaws, however, apparently have no fear of the law.

Illustrative of this recklessness was the fatal shooting of one policeman and wounding of another here a few months ago. The officers had arrested three men as suspects, believing them to be members of an organized gang that had been responsible for a large part of the crime wave here.

NO SERIOUS CHARGE INVOLVED

No very serious charge could have been brought against the men and probably none whatever could have been made to stick. About the worst that could have happened to them was a few hours or days in jail. Certainly their predicament was not one that called for shooting their way to freedom, and yet that is precisely what they did. They broke away from the officers and a running duel ensued. The officer who was killed brought one of the outlaws down after he had received his fatal wound.

Chief Justice Taft, of the United States Supreme Court, regards the crime situation as so serious that recently he broke the silence in which men in his position have been shrouded and gave out an interview through Collier's Weekly in which he suggests numerous reforms in judicial procedure. Among other innovations he favors doing away with grand juries and police court juries, and for the former he would substitute investigations by the prosecuting attorneys and informations filed as a result of such investigations.

States should assume the full responsibility of curbing crime and lawlessness, in the opinion of the former president, and each State should have a state detective service and a state constabulary. Court procedure should be so modified that judges would have greater freedom in advising juries and that appeals and the granting of new trials on technicalities be largely done away with. Mr. Taft is also against the coddling of criminals once they have been convicted and sent to prison. A prison should mean punishment, and not a pleasant place to take a rest cure.

The situation with respect to crime in many cities is admittedly quite similar to conditions that led to the organization of the famous vigilance committees in the old wild days in California, Colorado, and other States but it has not been suggested as yet that citizens again take the enforcement of the law into their own hands. The work of the vigilantes was harsh, sharp, and terrible. Thieves and murderers were hung singly and in groups of as many as six or seven, and those who escaped summary punishment did so only by flight.

The last organization of a vigilance

See-Sawing On Broadway

By Gilbert Swan

New York—So often have we written of Broadway in terms of its seamy side, its incongruities and ludicrous aspects that it is perhaps high time to shout a few words of praise.

Broadway is today truly "the crossroads of the world." All Europe has come to look upon it as an outlet for its product.

At this moment the drama of the world can be viewed here as nowhere else. Paris, Vienna, London—all the world capitals suddenly become provincial by contrast.

Stride for a half hour up and down its pavements and Broadway will be seen to display the wares of all nations while the outstanding talents find their names emblazoned in the bright lights. For Broadway is a gambler and gambling takes money and gold is a siren that brings forth the best and the worst.

And Broadway's theatrical gamblers with well-lined purses, have brought to this street of many faces all things that money could buy and spread them out as the farmers display their produce at the county fair.

Here is a Hebrew troupe from Moscow performing in the ancient tongue of Palestine. Here are the most deft of the French artists, an outstanding tragedienne of Paris and singers from the French opera comique. An outstanding box-office hit is the work of a Frenchman and the director of a leading art production is late from Paris. The newest revue features a series of Moscow-made entertainments and two of the most popular musical comedies have London favorites at their head.

A man named Boleslavsky directs the newest in little theatres and another named Bel-Geddes makes some of our best stage designs. The Guitlys play at $25 a seat and an entertainer from Spain brings a similar sum. For a season the hits of Vienna tantalize the ears and foreign translations are as common as weeds.

One can scarce navigate a block without coming headlong into a European artist, writer or actor.

The lecture bureaus shout the names of Walpole, Massfield, Maddox-Ford and such.

The musical bureaus cry the arrival of new Hungarian pianists and violinists.

The latest in foreign cinema makes us low and Broadway puts up the money to bring over the greatest directors and actors of the film.

But for Broadway America would never know them.

Oh, yes, we like to tell about the weaknesses and comedies of our little highway, but at this opening of a new year I've got to stop a moment to take my hat off.

It's really more than a crossroads of the world. It's a big doorway through which passes everybody from beggar to genius. And that's why there's always something to write about.

The Question Box

Q. How much did the sea wall at Galveston, Texas, cost? J. D. C.

A. The sea wall covers the entire frontage of the city facing the Gulf of Mexico. This is a concrete steel-reinforced battlement, 117 feet high, 10 feet wide at base, 5 feet wide at crest, with a concave face, its base protected by a riprap of huge Texas granite blocks. It cost $2,000,000.

Q. On what day did Byrd circle the pole? W. D.

A. He and Floyd Bennett circled the North Pole in their plane Sunday, May 9, 1926. Returning they arrived in New York Tuesday, June 22, 1926.

Q. What is meant in card parlance by milking the cards? H. E.

A. Milking or fuzzing the cards is taking one from the top and one from the bottom at the same time, face down.

committee was in 1891 in New Orleans when a body of citizens took from the city jail a number of Italians charged with murder of the chief of police of that city, and with being members of the Mafia, and executed them by shooting and hanging.

Q. Where are the slums in Washington, D. C. L. P. G.

A. In the section which the word is used in large cities, Washington has no slums.

QUEER QUIRKS OF NATURE

WATCHING FLOWER MOVING PICTURES

BY ARTHUR N. PACK

President, American Nature Ass'n.
Nature is a moving picture. The motion, of course, is so slow in most instances that only with the greatest patience can one see any progress in the development of the flower, except as from day to day.

But there are some plants that unfold their beauty before us in a startlingly short period of time. One of the best instances is the tropical water lily. Its petals, remain closed during the day, but when the sun is nearing its final western position, first one and then another petal slowly unfolds until they all fall into position, leaving the heart of the flower exposed to the night and its flairs.

All water lilies are not night-bloomers, however; the various species have their particular habits, some opening and others closing as the heat of the day reaches them.

The well-known "four o'clocks," though they open late in the afternoon, do not follow a set schedule. In this group the opening process is led by the white flowers and followed by the reds and other colors.

When early morning comes these four o'clock close their petals and flairs, since each flower blooms only one day.

Two still more familiar flowers of rapid development are the crocus and the tulip, which open when the sun begins to warm the earth, and close when the air becomes cooler.

In the cactus family both night-liland day-life are exemplified, the former in the night-blooming cereus, the latter the Christmas cactus. A closer study of these rapidly-developing plants would undoubtedly help us to appreciate the slow motion growth of all Nature's children that are around us.

HURST ELECTED PRESIDENT OF COUNTY EQUITY UNION

COMMITTEE NAMED TO STUDY WAY OF "COOP" PURCHASING

Investigators Will Learn Experiences of Other Farm Organizations

BY W. F. WINSEY
Special Farm Writer
New London—The annual convention of the Outagamie county union of the American Society of Equity in the theater here Wednesday, William Hurst, Seymour and Theodore A. Glaser, Appleton, discussed at length the disadvantages of buying milk feed, binder twine and so forth in small lots and the financial advantage of pooling orders and buying in large quantities.

At the close of the discussion, a resolution was adopted authorizing the appointment of a committee to make an intensive study of the pooling of orders with the help of state equity organization, the Equity Live Stock Cooperative Sales Association and State Federation of Warehousemen, and to report to the next quarterly convention to be held at Seymour the last Wednesday in April.

William Hurst, Theodore A. Glaser and George Schmitt, Greenville, were chosen as members of the committee. Another resolution adopted by the meeting provided for the attendance of George Schmitt at the annual meeting of the Equity Live Stock Cooperative Sales Association to be held at Madison on Thursday, Jan. 27, as a delegate from the Outagamie County Equity union.

Considerable routine business was transacted by the convention which was followed by the reading of reports of outgoing officers and election of officers. The new officers are: President, William Hurst; vice president, Frank Reimer, Greenville; secretary, Herman Gagnow, Seymour; treasurer, William Marasch, New London. Committees will be appointed by the incoming president.

Delegates from the local unions were: H. H. PEERLESS DAIRY FARM HAS GOOD MILK RECORD

Appleton—The six acres of early and late cabbage were raised and disposed of during the past year by Joseph Williams, proprietor of the Peerless Dairy Farm, Broadway, route 2. For the early cabbage sold in August and September Mr. Williams received an average of $8 a ton, and for the late crop from $10 to $12.

Mr. Williams intends to plant an acre of early cabbage and two acres of late cabbage next spring. He raises no other crop because he is short of help but is engaged in dairying with 12 high grade Holstein cows. As long as he has been dairying, he has kept a purchased sire. One of his cows, last Friday morning, gave birth to twins. Mr. Williams is now feeding his cattle twice a day, a mixed ration consisting of 2 parts ground oats, 1 part ground barley, 1 part bran and 1 part oil meal. Besides these feed his cattle get clover and timothy hay, night and morning. Mr. Williams has enough feed to carry the herd through the season.

In addition to his wild grass pasture, Mr. Williams used about three acres of sweet clover last year and will have the same acreage of both kinds of pasture next season. He will also have 5 acres of alfalfa, 10 acres of red clover, 10 acres of oats, 2 acres of barley, 11 acres of corn and six acres of wild upland pasture. He uses quantities of farm-produced fertilizer and has no trouble in getting good stands of alfalfa and red and sweet clovers.

Few Bees Were Poisoned By Spraying Last Year

BY W. F. WINSEY
Greenville—Last year was not an exceptional year for the large production of honey," said Edward Hassinger, Jr., secretary of the Fox River Valley Bee Keepers' association, and a large producer himself. "There were, comparatively speaking, only a few blossoms that contained a thin grade of honey; consequently Mr. Hassinger, and cold wet weather prevented the bees from working to the limit of other years. "As no apple trees in this vicinity were sprayed last spring, we lost no bees by poisoning. This danger to bees is prevented, when trees are sprayed at the time of blossoming. George Jacobson, a bee man, lives north of Kaukauna, reports however, that he lost 40 per cent of his bees last spring as a result of the general spraying of apple orchards in his vicinity when the trees were in blossom. "Last summer my apiary contained 170 colonies of which I made three divisions. One-third of the hives were stationed at home, another third on the farm of Henry Kreutzburg and the other third on the farm of my father. I have gradually reduced that number of colonies to 150."

According to the nature of the demand, Mr. Hassinger disposes honey either retail or wholesale. "The average amount of surplus honey for hives in the United States is 35 pounds, but individual hives may produce in an exceptional season 100 pounds of surplus honey and in unfavorable years some hives may not produce enough to sustain them. "Outagamie-co is a fair honey-producing section but much better records are made by bees in Calumet-co because the farmers raise great quantities of clover. "At this time the per capita consumption of honey in the United States is less than three pounds, while the per capita production of sugar is 100 pounds. When consumers are taught the food value of honey, the per capita consumption may be materially increased. Even now a number of the leading producers of breakfast foods are recommending a covering of honey as an additional appetizer for their product. In past years, expert cooks are advising the use of honey on account of its flavor and its moisture retaining properties. As a food honey is very palatable and easily digested."

Farm-Made Scraper And Cars Used To Widen Road

SWEET CLOVER IS GAINING FAVOR IN OUTAGAMIE-CO

From One to Two Acres of Crop Take Place of Three to Six of Pasturage

BY W. F. WINSEY
Special Farm Writer

Appleton—The first serious trial as a pasture for dairy cattle in Outagamie-co against the prejudice of being dubbed a noxious weed, impossible of eradication after gaining a foothold and capable of imparting a disagreeable odor or flavor to milk if cows browsed on it, it steadily gained ground, until last summer when a great number of dairymen were either trying it out or depending upon it altogether as a pasture for cattle. In fact, the acreage of sweet clover increased to the extent in the past few years, that one township assessor reported 2,890 acres last summer in his territory. With these signs of growing favor, it is the natural thing to predict, that this noxious weed that seeded itself, grew wild along the roadside for years and was detested and feared by weeding farmers, will soon become the mainstay of pastures in this vicinity.

While it usually requires from three to six acres to supply pasture for a season for one cow, from one to two acres of sweet clover will do the same work. As the roots penetrate the ground deeply, sweet clover is drought-resistant and furnishes pasture for a longer period than do other plants.

MUCH "WILD" PASTURAGE

When one considers that in this state there are thousands and thousands of acres of upland wild pasture covering bluffs, ravines and valleys, scattering wooded or bare, that under present conditions do not furnish adequate pasture to the herds that roam over them for more than two months of the summer, he wonders why an owner, here and there, does not try the experiment of fencing from five to ten acres of such wild pasture, seeding the enclosure to sweet clover or some other kind of clover and cut of the experiment get ample pasture for his entire herd without the customary roaming throughout the season. It was recently stated at a gathering of farmers in a neighboring city, that an expert in pastures in a state adjoining Wisconsin set aside a small plot of the kind of wild pasture land mentioned above, mowed it from time to time with a lawn mower, and kept account of each cutting, the wonder of which was in an experiment designed to determine how much feed such pasture yields to the acre and how many acres a cow must cover to sustain her in creditable milk production. It is said that he came to the conclusion, that after the first month of spring in the pasture, a cow needs only the daily growth of 20 acres of such pasture.

If there is any truth in the conclusion of the pasture expert and if the work done by a cow to get her daily ration under such circumstances is taken into consideration, the wonder is how she could eat enough to keep up the energy of her body to say nothing of milk production. But the fact still remains, that if the dairyman who owns such pasture lands fences off a portion of them and sows it to sweet clover, he will soon be in a fair way to supply an abundance of productive pasture to his cattle and prevent them from exhausting the energy of their bodies in getting the amount of feed needed.

Sweet clover sown in the spring at the rate of 20 pounds to the acre will each other, the inventive genius of Adam Kohl, who resides on the same street, was called to action. He contrived and built a snow plow and attached it to the rear of a farm sleigh. But when he had the contraption set up and ready for service he found that he lacked the power of propulsion through deep drifts and called for volunteers in his neighborhood to supply the deficiency. Owners of four cars responded.

These cars were arranged in tandem with a Ford, a Buick, the Jovett next and two Fords closing up the rear, the train being held together with a hay rope hitched to the cars and sleigh carrying the snow plow. With the combined power of these cars, the groove in the road made by the road scraper was quickly widened through drifts, the snow discharged in the ditches and toward the fence and the road left in the inviting condition mentioned by Mrs. Doering.

The cars hitched together in resistance procession to clear the School section road are owned by Adam, Norman, Amos and Walter Kohl and Bradford Doering.

MEN, WOMEN WILL JUDGE LIVESTOCK

Champion Judges Will Be Determined at Farm Folks Week at Madison

Madison—(P)—Are men or women the best livestock judges? No one really knows, but there should be some information on the subject after the state-wide stock judging contest at Farm Folks' week here, Jan. 21-Feb. 4.

Farmers, farm women, in fact whoever will, are being urged to enter this contest, at which all classes of stock will be judged up on. The contestants may take part in any or all contests. Dairy cattle will start the tournament on Tuesday morning, February 2, first on the program for Dairyman's Day, and continued on Thursday, when classes of beef cattle, sheep, swine and swine will be brought out.

In the horse classes, there will be a chance for those competing to agree or disagree with the opinions of the best horse judges all over the country. The Wilson and Company prize six-horse team of Clydesdale geldings, which are coming here for a night performance at the "Little International" will be led in for this farmer's contest. One of them won the purple ribbon at the last International, and for the last eight years, on a fall circuit of the eastern fairs and expositions, the team has never been defeated. So contestants will have something real to rate when these ton drafters line up.

Certificates, telling of their ability to judge livestock, will be given by the Wisconsin Live Stock Breeders' Association to those winning the highest score in each class.

GREENVILLE FACTORY HOLDS YEARLY ELECTION

MUCH DIFFICULTY IN CONSTRUCTION OF CUT-OFF CANAL

Would Involve Years in Time and Fortune in Litigation, Amundson Says

(Following is the second of a series of articles on "Our Flood Troubles," by Mr. Amundson. Others will follow.)

BY ROBERT A. AMUNDSON
Outagamie-co Agricultural Agent
Many land owners in the vicinity of Shiocton are of the opinion that a cut-off direct to Duck Creek from some point north of Shiocton will eventually solve the problem.

On first thought this seems reasonable. However, any one who has had experience with drainage organizations sees in such a project obstacles that may not be apparent to the layman. Granted that it is possible to dig such a canal and that it will solve the flood problem on some 60,000 acres of river bottom lands, the legal aspects of such a project would involve years of time and fortune in litigation. Something like twenty bridges would have to be built which would involve towns, county and state.

A right-of-way 400 feet wide would have to be purchased for 24 miles from something like 100 different persons.

Drainage claims, all the way along the line, possibly all the way to the Fox river, would be involved. Diverting water from one stream to another would surely involve the power in interests along the Fox. Other interests that might have to be dealt are the transportation interests, Isaac Walton league, and innumerable others. This would apply to any kind of a cut off that might be attempted.

SURVEY IN 1917

The first survey on the project was made by the college of agriculture in 1917. At that time there was no soil map or other reliable data available. A supplementary survey later was made by Guy Hales. Soils maps were completed in the same year which indicated several possible routes.

The survey completed and plotted by Mr. Hales covered a route from a point south of Leeman across the Shiocton river, backing up the Black creek to a point east of the village of Black Creek, thence south into the upper end of Duck creek and into the Fox. An adverse report was made on this project by the college of agriculture at that time. This was later sustained by the war department engineers in their findings.

In 1926 the Association for the Relief of High Water failed to get a federal appropriation for a further survey. The college of agriculture and the U. S. Department of Agriculture took the matter up, and together with some help from the association, made rather intensive surveys and studies of the whole project in 1927.

B. S. Clayton, associate drainage engineer of the U. S. Department of Agriculture spent four months time on the project together with an assistant, E. R. Jones, state drainage engineer and the county agent also devoted some time to it.

SHIOCTON PLAN

In his report, dated December, 1926, Mr. Clayton says of the "Shiocton plan":

"The 'Shiocton plan' of diversion would require a ditch running eastward from the Wolf river, on the Shawano-Outagamie-co line for a distance of about two miles, and thence in a southeasterly direction to the Shiocton river. The proposed route then follows down the Shiocton valley and up the Black Creek valley to a point east of the town of Black Creek and thence across a low divide into the head waters of Duck Creek. This diversion would require a dam 20 feet high at Leeman, a maximum cut of at least 50 feet on the county line north of Leeman, and the rebuilding of more than twenty bridges along the ditch and down Duck Creek. The length of directly would be 24 miles and the right-of-way would require a strip 300 to 400 feet wide. Approximately 5,000,000 cubic yards of excavation would be required. At 12 cents per cubic yard the cost would be $1,050,000 for excavation alone provided no rock was encountered in the deep cuts. The cost of excavation plus the cost of dam, diversion works, bridges, right-of-way and damages in the Duck Creek valley would total several million dollars. The diversion of flood water from one stream to another would also involve legal questions of a serious nature."

OTHER CUT-OFFS

Several other routes appeared possible from soils map data and observations. At the suggestion of the writer, these were surveyed. It is only two or three miles from Wawana lake to the head waters of the Pensaukee in Oconto-co. Of this route Mr. Clayton says:

"Beginning at the east end of Shawano Lake at the Town of Cecil, levels were run eastward to the divide between White Clay Lake and the Pensaukee lakes and thence down the Pensaukee Valley to a point two miles west of the Oconto-co line. These levels were based on an assumed datum. There is a ten foot dam located just below Shawano and it was assumed that the water back of this dam was at the same elevation as that in Shawano lake. The levels showed that the surfaces of White Clay lake was 5.4 feet, that the Pensaukee lake was 7.7 feet, and that the divide was 17 feet above Shawano lake. If a diversion ditch was constructed along this route a maximum cut of about 50 feet would be required. The upper Pensaukee valley has a fall of about two feet per mile."

FROM STEPHENSVILLE EAST

Levels were run east from Stephenville to ascertain if there might be a possible cut off there, heading either into Duck creek or into the Fox somewhere near Appleton. The following is the engineer's findings on this route:

"The proposed diversion channel up Stephenville creek and thence across the divide to Duck creek would have a length of 13 miles and a maximum cut of about 45 feet. This estimate is based on a grade elevation of 600 feet at Stephenville and a fall of 6 inches per mile. The plan would require a dam across the Wolf River valley below the mouth of Stephenville creek which during periods of high water would back the water over the town of Shiocton and well up the Shiocton and Wolf river-valleys above the town.

It would be possible to carry a diversion ditch up Stephenville creek to the "800" Line railroad and thence in a southerly direction to the Fox river above Appleton. Such a ditch would require a maximum cut of 50 feet and a length of 17 miles and rock would certainly be encountered.

All of these plans of diverting part of the flood waters of the Wolf river are impractical because of the high cost. However, they have been investigated because of the wide-spread opinion among interested land owners that some such plan would prove feasible. Several million dollars spent on a diversion channel of sufficient capacity to lower the flood crest of the Wolf river two feet at New London would reclaim for agricultural purposes only a small part of the 55,000 acres of bottom land involved. The balance of the land would still suffer from lack of drainage.

TO DISCUSS FARM TAX PROBLEMS AT HOMEMAKERS WEEK

"Little International" Show Another Feature of Farmers' Week

Madison—(P)—Agricultural economists at the University of Wisconsin who have been making a careful study of the tax question as it relates to rural and urban affairs in some sections of Wisconsin will appear before Wisconsin farmers and home makers on Monday, Jan. 31, as one of the features of Monday's general program at Farmers' and Homemakers' week to be held here from Jan. 31 to Friday, Feb. 4.

Prof. B. H. Hubbard of the university will present a tax study before the group. Mrs. Sewall, of the American Farm bureau, will follow with a presentation of her views as to whether it is "Women or Men or Both," who contribute to the tax funds.

DAIRYMEN MEET

Dairymen of the state will meet the second day of the Farmers' course, Feb. 1. FAVORABLE REPORT ON BILL TO FIGHT BORER

Washington, D. C.—(P)—Favorable report on the bill to appropriate $10,000,000 for the control of the European corn borer was ordered Wednesday by the senate agricultural committee. The bill has already passed the house and Chairman McNary said he would press for prompt action by the senate.

The general level of farm prices continued to decline and by December 15 were 127 per cent of the pre-war level. This figure is 16 points below that on the same date a year ago.

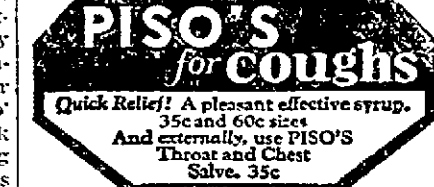

Thursday, Feb. 3, is to be devoted primarily to the activity of Badger grain growers. The address of the day is to be on the National Situation in Agriculture, and is to be presented by Dr. V. Jordan of the National Industrial Conference board; and at noon the silver jubilee dinner, celebrating the twenty-fifth anniversary of the Wisconsin Experiment association, is to be held.

Wisconsin farm women will find considerable to interest them on Friday, Feb. 4. Rural recreations, home canning of meats and a home talent tournament are to feature the closing day.

SWEATERS AND PLEATED SKIRTS WILL DOMINATE SPORT CLOTHES;
SHORT JACKET VOGUE OFFERS OPPORTUNITY FOR CONTRAST

BY HENRI BENDEL

NEW YORK—The sport costume has definitely settled itself in the mode and is now just as much of a fixture as the evening or dinner gown.

Sport attire is still casual in appearance, but it is no longer casually treated by designers and costumers. Now that French couturiers have definitely accepted it, the sweater, jumper and one-piece sport dress is receiving the care in detail, the refinement of line and fabric that any elaborate frock receives.

STRESS THE COLOR

For winter resort wear and for early spring, particular art has been lavished on color and material. Wool has exceeded everyone's fondest expectations. It is indeed a far cry from the unwieldy chevrons and tweeds of our youth to the cobwebby, velvety wool textures of today.

WILD COLOR RANGE

In color compass, it is difficult to be specific, because the range is so wide. Naturally much is said about blue because it is being revived, but in spite of its popularity blue has no monopoly. The rose shades, as well as the deeper reds and pinks, are very much in evidence at Palm Beach, and so is the violet mauve tone that is so marvelously soft and appealing in wool. Yellow is extremely smart.

SHORT JACKET VOGUE

The vogue for the short, unlined jacket plays right into the hand of the sport frock, and often offers an interesting opportunity for contrast—for instance a navy blue jacket with a boue de rose frock, or a silk frock with a short jersey jacket of a darker tone.

The tweed or flannel coat, lightly collared in fur or quite self-trimmed in a swank, narrow line affair this season that makes the harmonious wrap.

My own taste inclines toward pastel colors in sport attire. Because of the boyishness of line and cut, I like this feature of femininity in color. Also I like some slight coquetry about the hat that is worn with the sport outfit—dent in the brim or some sauciness to a bow that reveals the seriousness.

SMART SILHOUETTES

Photographed today are three typical spring sport frocks that show the smart silhouette for going, tramping, and all out of door sports and reveal a hint of smartness and a slight suggestion that every modern costume demands.

How you can be rough and ready and smart at the same time is exemplified by the turquoise sweater of angora wool in green and tan, combined with a skirt of pleated brown satin. Horizontal stripes are featured extensively this spring, but naturally belong only on the slender model. This type of sweater is also worn effectively under the tweed or jersey jacket suit.

ANGORA IS POPULAR

Angora also in apple green as soft as down makes the other sweater that is combined with the finely pleated poplin skirt with a border of green and brown stripes. This combination of green and tan seems the logical one for country wear since it is so harmonious with the landscape. For this I selected a hat of green Italian straw tucked at the right side and trimmed with green grosgrain ribbon. Very simple, but very chic.

MONOGRAMS POPULAR

Singularly effective and lovely is the monogrammed sweater in salmon pink basket cloth trimmed with pink crepe de chine of a lighter hue which also makes the pleated skirt. The triangular neckline encasing the monogram and the triangular pockets are appropriate little touches that are amuse on an outfit of this tender color. Adding a further touch of smartness to the costume is the close-fitting pink felt hat with the

"Dad, I can't!" And regardless of the fact that reporters were crowding their cars close to Bob Hathaway's to observe and report every movement and emotion of this obscure family that had suddenly become of some immense importance, she laid her head on her father's shoulder and

MILLINERY FOR THE MILLINERY JIBBS

The sport costume must be in keeping with the general idea. My preference is for the small untrimmed felt or straw hat that matches the frock.

The only jewelry that is really appropriate is possibly one of the colorful slave bangles, or a ring with some large semi-precious stone that matches or complements the color of the frock. Most women will not relinquish their pearls even for sport clothes, but only a small choker or inconspicuous short necklace has any excuse for being worn with the regulation sport frock.

CAREFUL GROOMING

With the modified sport dress that is good for town as well as for country, I grant more latitude.

The modern sport frock calls for careful grooming, for sleekly brushed hair, for perfectly manicured fingernails and evident neatness—but there is no place, any more, or careless attire and unlovely effects.

Bob Hathaway's hands tightened on the steering wheel. "I've done all I can for the moment, dear. I've hired Churchill and told him to get any body he wants to help him. If it comes to a defense in court, I'm prepared to spend every cent I have in the world to free Cherry, and to mortgage my income for years, if that's necessary, but I can't bomb the jail to get her out tonight."

"I know I'm unreasonable," Faith lifted her head and let her great tragic brown eyes plead with him for understanding and forbearance. "But I can't believe it's happened to Cherry—lovely little Cherry, that never did anyone any real harm. If it were only me! I can bear things better than Cherry. She's never been punished for anything, and now that she's innocent—oh, Bob, don't you see how I feel? Don't be angry with me, Bob, I need you now."

But try to buck up, honey, for all our sakes. I'm going to have a talk with Churchill tonight, make him realize the importance of those footprints I saw under the window. The murderer made them—they've got to believe that."

"Make Churchill tell the grand jury about them," Faith begged.

"I'm afraid you don't understand, dear," Bob told her, as gently as he could. "The district attorney, the prosecutor, you know, presents his case before the grand jury, but the defense is not represented. Churchill won't even know what transpires before the grand jury."

"Is that fair?" Faith flamed. "They won't even give her a chance. Darning will just call his own witnesses, who made it look so black for her at the coroner's inquest, and they'll indict her—indict her for murder! Oh, Bob, Bob, think of something!"

"I'm afraid you'll have to appear before the grand jury with the story you told to the coroner's jury," Bob asserted grimly. "And since I'll have to appear, I'll do the best I can to get those footprints into the record. Well, here we are. I won't come in, darling. I want to look over my mail at the office, and then I'll have a quick bite of dinner and go to see Churchill."

"You'll be back after that?" Faith held on to his hand forlornly as he stood beside the car which had stopped before the little Myrtle street house.

"Of course. And I'll phone Mary-ry—lovely little Cherry, that never did anyone any real harm. If it were only me! I can bear things better than Cherry. She's never been punished for anything, and now that she's innocent—oh, Bob, don't you see how I feel? Don't be angry with me, Bob, I need you now."

THE MAN WHO GAVE UP EVERYTHING

BY OLIVE ROBERTS BARTON

A YOUNG man and woman were married. They were very much in love and every minute spent away from each other was an agony of years.

The young husband lingered as he left for the office in the morning and jumped up the steps of the subway three at a time in the evening when he came home.

They were exactly like a million other normal married couples when they first set out on the great adventure.

One day the boy worked overtime at his office. There was extra work to be done so everybody pitched in. He never did that again, the girl cried so. She talked for a month about him getting tired of her and staying away on purpose.

He had given up a club of friends that met once in a fortnight to "smoke up" as they called it. It was decidedly stag—innocent enough, but masculine.

The boys got after him in time and begged him to look in once in a while. He did once! Another evening of tears and another month of "you don't love me and you're tired of me!"

He did spend every minute with her after that to avoid scenes. He washed the dishes with her and read the paper to her and went to the movies, with her. If he had forgotten to buy cigarettes they went out together for them. The only place she couldn't go was the office and how she hated the office!

They had two children. If she went out with the baby, he went too—if it was a home day. If he wheeled the baby out with any hope of a little freedom, she made an excuse for him to be back very soon, or went alone.

They called him, "His Wife's Husband." I call him, "The man who has given up."

This is not an illustration. They are people I really know.

And then it made the Times roar, to see him starting for the shore. Hand over hand he traveled, like a circus artist does. He reached his goal, quite safe and sound, and promptly sat down on the ground to tell them all about his trip, and just how scared he was.

FAMOUS OLD RECIPE FOR COUGH SYRUP

Thousands of housewives have and how to save two-thirds of the money usually spent for cough preparations, by using this well-known old recipe for making cough syrup. It is simple and cheap but it has no equal for results. It gives immediate relief, usually stopping an ordinary cough in 24 hours or less.

Get 2 1/2 ounces of Pinex from any drugstore, pour it into a pint bottle, and add plain granulated sugar syrup to make a full pint. If you prefer, use clarified honey, instead of sugar syrup. Either way, it tastes good, keeps perfectly, and lasts a family a long time.

It's truly astonishing how quickly it acts, penetrating through every air passage of the throat and lungs—loosens and raises the phlegm, soothes and heals the membranes, and gradually but surely the annoying throat tickle and dreaded cough disappear entirely. Nothing better for bronchitis, hoarseness or bronchial asthma.

Pinex is a special and highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract and palatable guaricol, known the world over for its healing effect on membranes.

To avoid disappointment, ask your druggist for "2 1/2 ounces of Pinex" with directions. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money promptly refunded. The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

Regular business was discussed at the meeting of Fidelity chapter Order of Eastern Star Wednesday evening in Masonic temple, when new officers of the lodge presided for the first time. Plans were made to hold a "bring a member meeting" on the second Wednesday in February.

APPOINT HAGMAN GENERAL HEAD OF MIDWINTER FAIR
Succeeds John Coppes Who Resigned Because of Pressure of Other Work

Kaukauna—W. P. Hagman, principal of the Kaukauna Rural Normal school, was chosen general chairman of the Kaukauna Midwinter fair at a meeting of the Kaukauna Advanced association Wednesday evening in the council rooms of the municipal building. Mr. Hagman was nominated for general chairman by a committee and then unanimously elected by the association after a committee composed of Joseph Jansen, W. P. Hagman, Alabi Ryan, J. J. Martens and N. Haupt had advised to select a man who could take the place of John Coppes who had resigned from the committee in charge of the fair. Mr. Hagman said he was coming back into the contracting business and as this was the busy time of the year for contractors he felt he could not devote enough time to the fair to make a complete success of it. Mr. Coppes offered to serve on any of the committees that Mr. Hagman would appoint. There was considerable discussion of the date for the fair and it was finally decided to leave this matter up to the chairman who has the honor of a special meeting of the association to be held on Feb. 2 in the municipal building. County Agent R. A. Amundson attending teacher's institute at Kaukauna would like to hold the county teacher's institute at Kaukauna during the fair. Mr. Amundson said the only dates possible for the institute were Feb. 18 and 19 and Mar. 18 and 19.

President Ben Prugh expressed the sentiment of the association when he said that the association would like to have the institute here during the fair and added that no doubt one of the two dates would be chosen. The February date seemed most favorable. A committee consisting of William Van Lieshout, Peter Rann and John Coppes was appointed to arrange for a dinner for the county board, county officials and Kaukauna city officials during the fair.

President Prugh reported that if a health clinic was to be held in connection with the fair it would cost considerably more this year than last. He asked the association if it thought it worthwhile to hold the clinic. Mr. Coppes said he believed it to be one of the essential features of the Midwinter fair and that he suggested that the association continue to hold the clinic.

Ernest Landreman, chairman of the fire and police commission said he thought the auditorium one of the buildings in which the fair will be staged, was a big fire hazard and that the association should do something to protect itself from any liability resulting from injuries sustained during the time of the fair. President Prugh appointed all the officers of the association on a committee to confer with the city attorney and see how the association could be protected.

A cheese exhibit will be held in connection with this year's fair. Charles Grode will be in charge of the exhibit. Mr. Hagman expects to have his general committees picked within the next day or two. He asked the cooperation of every member of the association and all agreed to help.

SEEK BURGLARS WHO BROKE INTO THEATRE

Kaukauna—The Vaudeville Theater on Second-st was broken into sometime early Wednesday morning. The person or persons breaking into the theater evidently fled in panic for only the outer door on the right hand entrance was forced open and the inner door did not seem to have been touched. The window on the ticket case was also smashed in. Nothing was taken. Several people living in the vicinity say they heard a crash early in the morning and saw two men run by Meyer's Drug store. No reason for breaking into the theater could be seen. William Van Dyke, the manager, does not keep money there over night.

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE
To the home of Prof and Mollie Elwell in Camdemville, Ind., one night in October, 1898, is brought a woman who had fainted on a train. Late that night the woman bears twin girls and then dies without revealing her name.

The story then moves forward 18 years. The twins, now growing to beautiful womanhood, have been named MARGARET and ELIZABETH. They are called NISSEY and BETTY.

JIM ELWELL, the son, enlists in the World War. He then discovers that one of the twins loves him.

He is shell-shocked at the Battle of Sedan and, shortly after, is registered as JOHN POWELL. He is removed to an American hospital and reported dead. It is discovered that the father of the twins is dead and that they are nieces and heirs of JOHN CLAYTON, wealthy resident of Indianapolis. Shortly after this, the Elwells get word that Jim is alive. They start for New York.

At the hospital they are told by NISSEY NELLIE DOWNING that Jim's mind is blank, that he is like a living dead man.

NOW BEGIN THE STORY
CHAPTER XXVII

Nellie Downing turned and Prof and Mollie Elwell followed her. They went up in the elevator and then were taken to the ward where Jim Elwell was.

Still following the nurse, the parents of Jim Elwell walked down the corridor and into the great room. Prof held tightly to his wife's arm and kept anxious watch on her.

"Be brave, dear," he counseled. "Be brave for the boy's sake. He's all yours. You know that's something. It's far better than—than the other." Prof Elwell knew he was lying.

The little drama that followed was one that Nellie Downing cheerfully would have given a year of her life to have missed. Half the distance down the big room she could see Jim Elwell. He was sitting down in a chair beside his cot, gazing at a nearby window with those listless eyes of his. As she looked at him it seemed to the nurse that he was the symbol of "Gethsemane," waiting, forever waiting.

That was what he seemed to be. Waiting for someone who never came — for something that never happened, and never would happen.

Apparently he had heard them moving down the room, for he turned his head as they approached and Mollie Elwell for the first time saw the blank stare that had come to supplant the steady look and the merry light in Jim Elwell's eyes. He seemed perfectly unaware of them.

And now Nellie Downing and Prof. and Mollie had drawn close to him. They stopped. Nellie Downing asked, "Is this your boy, Mrs. Elwell?"

"Yes," Mollie answered in a faint whisper. Prof Elwell nodded sadly.

"You see?" the nurse said, gesturing toward Jim with an eloquent hand.

Again Prof nodded. Mollie was looking at her boy. She had not moved since they had paused at his bedside. Prof, too, had not moved, but his eyes wandered between Jim and Mollie. Poor Mollie! This was likely to break her. To build up the hope in her once more only to have it blasted like this! Prof Elwell was fearful.

And then Mollie Elwell spoke to her boy. "Jim," she said, very softly.

Nellie Downing began to cry very softly, and Prof Elwell turned his eyes in agony toward the ceiling. It was more than he could bear. Oh, the cruelty of it, he was thinking.

"Yes," Mollie said, and the mother was saying again, "Look at me."

But Jim was looking at her, only the eyes through which he looked opened onto a deadened mind.

"Do you know me Jim? Do you know your mother?"

There was no answer from the soldier. Again that frown knitted his brows. He turned toward the nurse and then back again to Mollie. A slight sound escaped him, but it was unintelligible.

And then Mollie Elwell leaned forward and pressed her lips against his cheek and Prof clenched his hands in the nurse's made deep impressions in his palms.

The kiss had left Jim Elwell unmoved. Mollie's lips lingered a long time on his cheek and then were slowly lifted away.

And that was all. Not another word from Mollie or from Prof. She sat there, dry-eyed, looking at her boy. She had tried to awaken him but his brain still slept.

As for Prof, he patted Jim's shoulder, stroked his hands and dared not allow himself to speak.

He and Mollie took the second heart-breaking blow of their lives as they had taken the first — unconsciously and without any hysterical display of emotion. But Nellie Downing saw beneath the calm surface and read the story of the crushing ache, the anguish that was too acute to manifest itself in any show of outward grief.

The nurse permitted them only a few minutes more with Jim. Then they had to leave. They could come back again the next day, she said — could come back as often as they pleased providing they did nothing to sicken the patient.

"You see how it is," she said to Prof as she accompanied them downstairs. "His mind is dead, as I told you."

"And there's nothing," Prof asked her. "That can be done?"

"I don't know. I hope so — oh, I hope so."

She looked at her a little queerly. Nellie Downing was wiping her eyes with her handkerchief. . . . And he had thought that nurses grew accustomed to things like this.

The Elwells did not despair completely. In their hearts was the same hope, waiting for a word or a sign to tell them that all, perhaps, was not lost with Jim.

And that sign was given them, strangely enough, in the form of tears. They were tears that had no meaning, for they welled up in the eyes of the man whose brain was supposed to be dead to any phase of emotion.

"Having been advised to let Jim remain in the hospital, under observation for at least a month or so longer, Prof and Mollie Elwell engaged board and room at a private residence close by so they might be near him.

Jim Elwell up until the time of his leaving home to go to war had been accustomed since babyhood to being kissed by his mother. It was natural, therefore, that Mollie should still give expression to her affection in that way whenever they were alone or whenever only Prof and Nellie Downing were present.

Jim could be and was taught some of the simpler tasks of everyday life such as a baby just beginning to walk might learn. He could feed himself, for instance, and cover himself up when he was cold.

Whether these actions were governed by any thought or whether they were as Superintendent Barton said, instinctive, was a question the brain specialists did not answer.

One day when Mollie had kissed him, he kissed her back. Probably, Nellie Downing said later, through mimicry, because he had learned to imitate the actions of others.

It frightened Mollie at first, the unexpectedness of it. But then, looking at him sharply and seeing only that blank look in his eyes, she began softly to cry.

It was then that the t-ars slowly welled up into Jim Elwell's eyes, and Mollie, seeing them, grew half frantic with the born hope that suddenly seized her.

She called Nellie Downing. "I'll make a report of it," the nurse said. "It certainly is a new development. Whether it's cause enough to hold out any real hope for his recovery I can't say. But my opinion is that it requires something more than mere mechanical imitativeness to produce tears. There must be some emotion in him somewhere that responded to your own."

In the spring of 1919 doctors and surgeons from all parts of the world were called to Europe in a conference to try, if possible, to work out some means of suppressing the epidemic of disease that had sprung up in the wake of the war.

Among these men of science was a celebrated surgeon from New York—a brain specialist. Numerous cases that other specialists had pronounced hopeless had been taken over by him and the patients restored to normal condition. The hope that on his return from abroad this man might be induced to try to put Jim back into the world of remembered things held Prof and Mollie Elwell in New York for weeks after they otherwise would have returned home. That—and the fact that Jim Elwell one day had cried.

Mollie's first letter to the girls was the most difficult letter she ever had tried to write. She told them as well as she could the condition in which they had found him, what the doctors had said regarding the unlikelihood of his recovery along the lines then being followed and the danger that would attach to an operation.

She also told of the probability of their having to remain in New York for a month or two and insisted in a letter to John Clayton that the twins were not to try to see Jim until she gave them permission.

At that time no mention had yet been made of the brain surgeon on whom they were counting so strongly.

The answer to this letter came in triple form. Each girl wrote bravely, with many expressions of her hope, grief, love and condolence. Each tried to console Mollie with the thought that Jim, at least, was alive and while there was life there was hope. John Clayton added his part in the form of a carefully worded request to be to do anything in his power to lessen the burden that had been laid upon them.

And so the weeks passed, with Jim the pivot around which revolved everything that went to make up the Elwells' little world. During those weeks the lovely personality and the unstinted devotion of Nellie Downing to her self-imposed assignment earned for her a place in the hearts of Mollie and Prof Elwell that neither time nor separation would ever dislodge.

And then late one day in July word was received that Dr. Clayton, the celebrated brain specialist on whom Jim's mother counted so strongly, was on his way back to New York.

(To Be Continued)

There is little that can be done for Jim, Mollie Elwell learns in the next chapter.

GROSS ROSS PLAYERS IN
PARLOR BEDROOM AND BATH

He was a mollycoddle, Reginald was married to a little woman who believed him a "devil among the women." And she loved him because he held that fatal attraction to women. But, as a matter of fact, he cared little for women and they cared less for him. In other words, he was a fraud and his wife was deceived. Instead of being a "wicked little Reginald" he was a most innocent little married man in the world. He was in danger of being apprehended by his wife. She was becoming aware of his innocence and with that knowledge her love was fast turning cold. Something had to be done. A friend offered the solution to the problem have an affair with a hurd woman. Reggie agreed. And then the fun began. Like all men, unfamiliar with the customs and ways of the "primrose path," Reggie blundered into all sorts of troubles. It is his blunders that provide the fun in Parlor Bedroom and Bath, the offering of the Gross Ross Players today at Fischer's Appleton theatre.

In Parlor Bedroom and Bath, Miss Myrtle Ross, that famous comedienne will be given opportunity to show Appleton a few twists in comedy that will not only have them in a constant state of merriment, but will also win her way to their hearts.

Parlor Bedroom and Bath is the fastest moving farce comedy on the stage. The roars of laughter that follow the action on the stage are louder and longer and more persistent than in any comedy we have ever seen.

Parlor Bedroom and Bath is the best tonic for gloom ever devised for the stage.

Friday night the Gross Ross Players will offer Strange Bed fellows, a comedy hit written by Barry Connors, the author of Applesauce.

THOSE WHO LIKE ADVENTUROUS TALES WILL FIND "THE WINDING STAIR" REAL TREASURES.

There is action for several ordinary screen dramas in "The Winding Stair," a new Fox production, adapted from the novel by A. E. W. Mason, at the New Bijou Friday and Saturday.

However, "The Winding Stair" is not an ordinary screen drama. The scenes, laid in Morocco, are beautiful and picturesque and the story is one of the gripping sort. Edmund Lowe and beautiful Alma Rubens have the leading roles and the supporting cast includes some of the best-known names in screenland. Among them are Chester Conklin, Emily Fitzroy, Warner Oland, Mahlon Hamilton and Frank Leigh.

The history is that of an officer of the French Foreign Legion who forgets his duty in his love for the beautiful American dancing girl who has become stranded in a strange land. He rescues her from an underworld cafe where she has been forced to take a position. The girl tries to make him understand that duty comes before love but he is unable to see this until disgrace comes upon him.

His fight for redemption leads him into some harrowing adventures but in the end, his valor in the World War restores his honor and self-respect. The battle scenes are unusually realistic and exciting and seldom has a photoplay director followed a story so faithfully as did John Griffith Wray in adapting "The Winding Stair" to the films.

IF SKIN BREAKS OUT AND ITCHES APPLY SULPHUR

Just the moment you apply Mentha-Sulphur to an itching, burning or broken out skin, the itching subsides and healing begins, says a noted skin specialist. This sulphur preparation, made into a pleasant cold cream, gives such a quick relief, even to fiery eczema, that nothing has ever been found to take its place.

Because of its germ-destroying properties, it quickly subdues the itching, cools the irritation and heals the eczema right up, leaving a clear, smooth skin in place of ugly eruptions, rash, pimples or roughness.

You do not have to wait for improvement. It quickly shows. You can get a little jar of Rowles' Mentha-Sulphur at any drug store. adv.

BIG TEN CONFERENCE ADOPTS FOUR-YEAR GRID SCHEDULE

Badger Grid Machine To Play 20 Games In Next Four Years By New Card

Cards Play Michigan in 1927-1928 but Not in Following Two Years

Chicago—(AP)—A four-year schedule that preserves "dearest enemy" games and at the same time provides variety in a partial rotation of opposition has been presented for the Big Ten football teams at the suggestion of their athletic directors in isolated cases traditional rivalries are to be temporarily broken under the four-year plan. There will be for example, no "little brown jug" argument between Michigan and Minnesota in 1928. Minnesota, however, will continue its annual arguments with Iowa and Wisconsin through the four-year span, with Indiana also on the schedule for games each year.

The "big game" games have been retained for the entire period by the Wolverines notably the Ohio and Illinois battles. The stadium are never large enough to handle the crowds for these games.

Wisconsin which has been a regular entry on the Michigan menu for several years, will remain through 1927 and 1928, but will be missing in the next two years.

The Indiana-Purdue classic keeps its traditional place in the long distance scheduling. Chicago and Wisconsin also meet Purdue each season. In addition to Michigan, Illinois will have yearly games with Ohio, Northwestern and Chicago, with Iowa and Indiana finding places on the schedule part of the time.

Iowa has the busiest Big Ten schedule of all with 22 games arranged. This is six over the required four for five games in 1927 and 1928, and six games in the two following years. Minnesota, which has experienced difficulty in the past in getting conference games because of objection by some coaches to the famous Minnesota-Iowa game, will have a bye week in 1927 and 1928, and will play the next largest number of games—21. Three schools—Michigan, Illinois and Wisconsin—each will play 20 games. Northwestern, Purdue and Indiana have 19 games each on their four year programs.

Announcement of the new 1927-30 schedule arrangement came at a time when there appeared agitation favoring a rotating schedule which would determine definitely each year a conference champion. Minnesota was one of the strongest endorers of the rotating plan, but is understood now to be ready to accept the four-year plan.

Abolition, at least until after 1930, of the year-to-year scheduling which has frequently proved troublesome was endorsed last November at a meeting in Washington of presidents of the Big Ten schools. Eight of the university presidents approved the four-year plan and requested their athletic directors to draw up such a schedule.

The new schedule, which yet must be approved by faculty representatives of the schools, was arranged at secret meetings of the directors with Major John T. Griffith, commissioner of athletics, last week.

SWENDSON FORDS TO PLAY SPORTS HERE ON FEB. 10

Final Date Set to Bring Beaten Milwaukee Pro Cagers to Armory

Swendson's Fords, undefeated Milwaukee professional basketball team, will invade Appleton on Thursday evening, Feb. 10, to battle with the Basing Sports, Appleton pro cagers, at Armory G, according to Manager Myrtle Basing of the local quint. Basing has been dickering with the crack pros for some time as well as with officers of the Armory and finally has chosen a date agreeable to both the visitors and the Armory heads.

The Fords are the class of Wisconsin pro cagers this year, their victories including games with the Chicago Bruins and Fort Wayne of the National pro loop, the Beloit Fairies, 1926 state champs, Belvidere, Ill., and several others. Friday evening they meet the crack New York Nationals, one of the leading teams of the pro loop. To date they have won eight games and lost none.

Members of the team are Jack McAuliffe, Beloit all-midwest player for three years and coach at Appleton high school last year; Red Dunn and Dick Quinn, the pair that put Marquette on the cage map a few years ago; Sullivan, all-Big Ten conference center from Illinois; Nash and Skippy O'Connor, well known wherever pro ball is played in the state.

McAuliffe, who also plays with the Basing team on off nights, is the star of the Milwaukee team, averaging five baskets or better a game, often caging as many as ten. Fans who saw him play here last year before the local pro loop squad quit, know his great ability, while others have heard of it because of his work with the Fords this year. He excels in out-sprinting his guard to the ball and on one-hand shots from anywhere near the hoop.

The lineup which will oppose the Fords will be by no means a setup, according to present indications. The Basings beat the Neenah Boosters and Oconto Legion, both at home, and this job is especially hard in the latter case. With three regulars missing and using a spectator to complete the team, they gave Two Rivers strong crew a hard battle on the Two River floor.

The guards probably will be two of Lawrence colleges best all-around athletes of former days, Eddie Kotla, all-midwest fourth, and Oesie Cook, leader of the class K-C Athletics. Basing and Hagen also will be ready to go. Gunderson, husky Two River center and scoring ace of that team, will probably be at center. At forwards will be Doc Algeo of Kaukauna, Marquette star of the last few years. The other forward is not filled but among those being considered are Stimp, old Neenah high star, and Jorgensen, La Crosse star, and now Neenah high coach. Another high school coach of this vicinity, who starred in normal school circles a few years back, also is expected to play part of the game. The latter is a speed player with a good shooting eye. Algeo was unknown as a player in this vicinity until this winter but his consistent play has brought him to the stage where his services are in demand by four pro squads of the district, all of which he plays with.

The management of the local team, is bringing the Fords here at great expense, mostly so Appleton fans who have heard so much about them and have marveled "I wish I could see that bunch in action," will get their desire. They are the best in the state and local fans will be able at least once this year to see what real pro caging looks like. The management said. The local men hope to break through the idea of having the Fords play here for local crowds is causing them to dig in their pockets and they hope that the fans will support such an attraction enough to pull them through and bring Beloit Fairies here later.

SCORING THREAT

Just one of the reasons why basketball is so popular in Indiana.

BUD HUDDLESTON

Just one of the reasons why basketball is so popular in Indiana. Introducing Bud Huddleston, one of Kokomo's Wildcats, who is probably the highest powered offensive threat in Indiana high school net circles.

In 12 games this season Huddleston has counted 78 times from the free throw line for a total of 187 points, or an average of 15.6 points per game.

McAuliffe, who also plays with the Basing team on off nights, is the star of the Milwaukee team, averaging five baskets or better a game, often caging as many as ten. Fans who saw him play here last year before the local pro loop squad quit, know his great ability, while others have heard of it because of his work with the Fords this year. He excels in out-sprinting his guard to the ball and on one-hand shots from anywhere near the hoop.

EAST HIGH CAGEMEN KICKED OFF QUINT FOR BREAKING RULE

Green Bay—Seven members of East Green Bay's basketball team have been shunted off the varsity squad by Coach Chester Wiley for violation of the training rules.

The house cleaning takes Klaus, Nowols, Maes, Peters and Schmidt, the regular first team, and Becker and Christian, two good substitutes.

Green Bay East will play out the remainder of the schedule with a team composed of players drafted from the reserve squad. Friday night the revamped Hilloppers perform in Manitowish.

Madison—At least ten days of rest is in order for members of all Wisconsin athletic teams to permit the athletes to battle their final examinations of the semester.

The first half year's competition came to a pleasing close the past weekend when Coach Meany's basketball five defeated Northwestern in a last minute rally 25-24 and the Cardinal hockey and wrestling teams performed very well though defeated in their respective meets. Dr. Meany has set a schedule of intermittent practice periods for the next two weeks during which time he will brush up on the Badger offensive play and develop a running guard.

The next basketball contest is scheduled for Feb. 8 with Notre Dame, one of the strongest cage teams in the country today.

Profited considerably from the experience gained in their meet with the clever University of Manitoba. Six "Rube" Brandow's Hockey men are plugging along regularly and should show considerable improvement when they meet Notre Dame on the home rink Feb. 5.

The Badger wrestlers have a month in which to prepare for their engagement with Chicago at Chicago, Feb. 15. Hitehook's squad gave a splendid account of themselves in the Illinois meet. Although greatly handicapped by the loss of Wallie Cole, and the injury of Captain Spies, they forced the title holding Illinois to the limit and it was not until the two final matches had been staged that the visitors received a winning advantage.

On Feb. 12 the Wisconsin track and swimming team will swing into action. Tom Jones will journey to Iowa City with his squad, where he is scheduled to meet the strong Hawkeyes in the new Iowa Field House.

Joe Steinauer will remain at home with his tank artists and attempt to wreck the hopes of the Michigan tankers.

The Cardinal gymnasts and fencers will open the 1927 season with a preliminary meet at Madison on Feb. 5 with the Milwaukee Y. M. C. A. Coach Masley has been working with the boys for weeks and anxiously awaits the meeting with the Milwaukee group when he will be able to get a better line on the strength of his team.

Kansas City, Kas.—(AP)—John "Finger" Wilcox, Oklahoma, knocked out Nick Catalina, Chicago, (3).

WILSON, M'KINLEY OPEN JUNIOR HIGH CAGE YEAR

The first game for the 1927 championship of the Appleton Junior high schools was to be played Thursday afternoon when the Wilson high cagers, a leading contender for the honors were to meet the McKinley high squad, considered a weak team, at McKinley gym.

Last year Wilson and Roosevelt split even in the regular series of games and in the deciding game played on a neutral floor, the East side won by a small margin in a battle undon until the final whistle.

Riverside Paper' Co. team, No. 1, split two games in a match rolled Wednesday evening at the Eagle alleys, with the No. 2 squad but lost the match by 18 maps.

The first game of the match was a tie, but in the second game the No. 2 team picked up the big margin that decided the battle winning by 35 sticks. In the final battle the No. 1 team came back for a 19 pin win, not enough to overcome the second game lead of the rival quint.

J. Koestler of the No. 1 team had high game of 200 and O. Leroux of the No. 2 squad had high series with a 508. Leroux also had Leroux of his team, a 199. E. Zumach had high series for No. 1 five with a 499. Koestler rolled the only 200 game.

The new
Goodyear
All-Weather
Balloon Tire
with the new-type
All-Weather
Tread

It's Here!

Goodyear's New Balloon Tire for Fords and Chevrolets

Ever since Balloon Tires were introduced, Goodyear has been experimenting with tread designs to develop a tread which would match the Goodyear Balloon Carcass made of Supertwist Cord. Eighty different treads have been tried within the past two years and hundreds of thousands of miles run on test cars.

Finally, out of all these tests has come the new tire shown above. It is the famous Goodyear All-Weather Tread scientifically redesigned for Balloon Tire use. The first big advantages of this new tread are traction and resistance to skidding.

The sharp-edged diamond-shaped blocks are placed in a semi-flat design so that they retain their usefulness longer than any non-skid tread ever before tried.

The second big advantage is long, slow, even tread wear as opposed to the "cupping" and uneven wear so noticeable on many other Balloon Tires.

And with these virtues of traction, non-skid and long wear this new tread is perfectly quiet and does not produce the vibration of many non-skid designs.

With the Goodyear Supertwist Carcass and the new Goodyear Balloon All-Weather Tread, you have the safest, longest wearing most trouble-free tire Goodyear has ever produced.

We have this new tire in the 29 x 4.40 size for Fords and Chevrolets. Come in---see it---you'll want it right away.

Bachelor's Hymn
 For peaceful and calm independence
 I'm strong.
 I'm a bach that's been tied and found true.
 And believe me, I mean to stay single

 As one can live cheaply as two.

Advice
 Boy, if you are soft and sweet
 And you think you can't forget
 'em—
 Do not stand around and sigh—
 'Tet 'em!

If they're genuine good scouts
 And you love the presence of 'em.
 Don't be telling other guys—
 Love 'em!

If their eyes are bright as stars
 And their cheeks are smooth as vellum.
 Don't go whisper to the moon—
 Tell 'em!

When they make you promise 'em
 Never, never to deceive 'em—
 When they want to pick your ties—
 Leave 'em! : :

PLUMBERS

Class Conducted by Muriel E. Klobne Class: "Oh, teacher dear, we are just bursting with eagerness to know
 all about plumbers."

Teacher: "Well, if you're simply got to burst, do it as quietly as possible. The plumber is the man you call when the water pipe has a blow-out."

Class: "We didn't know that water-pipes ever went in for parties."
 Teacher: "It isn't that kind of a blow-out."

Class: "When you call the plumber, does he come?"
 Teacher: "Yes. He comes. But not right away."

Class: "Why not?"
 Teacher: "Well, he's got something to do until 10 a. m. and then it's only two hours to lunch, and after lunch he has a little shopping to do.
 He might arrive around 3 p. m. if you're lucky."

Class: "And then does he fix it?"
 Teacher: "Oh, no. He just comes and looks at the hole in the pipe, and the mess of water, and the pictures on the living room wall, and then he goes back after his tools."

Class: "Why doesn't he bring his tools in the first place?"

MAY ERECT CIVIC BUILDING TO HONOR AMERICAN VETERANS

American Legion Post Sounds Sentiment of Soldiers of Three Wars

Special to Post-Crescent.
New London—Regarding his sentiments as to whether a monument or a community house would be of more lasting value as a memorial to soldiers and nurses of all wars, Ray Thomas, city engineer and member of the American Legion, was stated Tuesday evening at the joint meeting of the American Legion and its auxiliary that it would be his desire to erect a building, which would comply with all the needs of the people as they meet in common affairs. Such a building, believes Mr. Thomas, would truly be a memorial to soldiers of all wars and a credit to all.

"However," stated Mr. Thomas, "much as we have desired this, much as we need it, the need of funds has always put an end to our enthusiasm. So it is my opinion that the monument fittingly inscribed and dedicated to dead and living veterans would perhaps be most easily realized."

Veterans of the Spanish-American war, who are residents of this city, are Ray Thomas, Andrew Larek, Frank Klatt, Bernard Klatt and William McNichols.

According to various members of the American Legion there is a fund already accumulated which would make a fair beginning toward a monument.

The time between now and Memorial day is so short that in the opinion of the plans a definite action must be taken, according to Commander E. G. Brown of the American Legion, who presided at the meeting.

D. E. Egan, who introduced the subject, stated that some action should be taken now.

"In order that the memory of the deeds of those men who so bravely fought the battles of their day shall be made everlasting, it is time that we begin this work if we ever to do it."

Veterans of the Civil war and the Spanish-American war are becoming scattered, and of the former only a few remain. These men have been constant in their desire to place some fitting memorial in our city before the time is too late. They and those who remain of the gallant thousands who did their work nobly and well," Mr. Egan said.

Speaking of the veterans of the Civil war, Mr. Egan reminded his hearers that in New London only seven men still live. They are Harley Heath, Albert Sterns, Sheldon Bradt, Ira Thayer, S. J. Rogers, Wesley Dawson, and Michael Peace. Of these men, Mr. Heath and Mr. Bradt have been very active in the interest of the memorial. Mr. Bradt and Mr. Heath both feel that the form of the memorial should be a monument.

WORK OF TREASURER IS SLOWING DOWN RAPIDLY

Special to Post-Crescent.
New London—According to L. M. Wright, city treasurer, who has been collecting taxes since Jan. 1, at the office of the city clerk, the work is shortening up so that he is busy only three days of the week, Monday, Wednesday and Saturday.

Mr. Wright states that it would simplify his work in making out the records of the year if all those who paid their taxes last summer would get their 1927 receipts from him. Many have called to get their receipts but a few still remain uncalled for.

ADD LIFE TO YOUR YEARS

As well as years to your life. Life without health is burdensome and the lack of it casts a shadow over all our activities. Foley Pills, a diuretic stimulant to the kidneys, cause a regular, health-giving flow, carrying out of the body in a natural way, that waste matter, which, if not promptly removed, spreads its poisons throughout the entire system, to the detriment of health. Bodily aches, severe pains, a run-down condition of the system, inevitably results. Avoid this. Ask for Foley Pills, diuretic. Sold Everywhere.

PENNINGS DEATH WAS ACCIDENTAL, PROBERS REPORT

Believe Tragedy Victim Lost Consciousness and Fell in- to Loop

John A. Lonsdorf, district attorney, is satisfied that Paul Pennings, 22-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. John Pennings, Little Chute, whose body was found in his father's garage late Tuesday afternoon with his head through a wire loop and his feet dangling on a front fender of his automobile, died accidentally.

A final investigation was conducted Wednesday afternoon and evening by him, Stanley A. Stahli, assistant district attorney, and Dr. H. E. Ellsworth, county coroner, and their findings confirmed the report submitted Wednesday morning by James Gertrich, Little Chute marshal, and Dr. Raymond Revold, also of Little Chute, who investigated the death Tuesday night.

The young man's body was found at 12:30 p. m. Tuesday afternoon by his mother who had gone out to the garage to learn what kept her son there so long. He had been expected back in the house sooner.

The district attorney based his decision on several reasons.

FEET ON CAR

The body was hanging free in the air. It was found in a slanting position, face downward, a wire loop under the neck, the feet lower than his head and hanging on a front fender of his automobile. The loop was not formed by a slip knot. Both ends of the wire were tied to a rather in the ceiling, and the loop thus formed was at least 16 inches in diameter. Mr. Lonsdorf was informed.

He believes that the young man became dizzy while standing on the car fender, probably from monoxide gas, and fell, his head dropping into the wire loop hanging from the fender.

Although the automobile was not running when the tragedy was discovered, the ignition switch was turned on. It is believed that the engine had been running but became overheated because of a felt mat over the radiator and had stopped.

DIES OF STRANGULATION

If Pennings was poisoned by the gas, it was not sufficient to kill him, as he was able to extricate himself, they point out. He could have pulled his feet off the car, as they were not caught there, and dropping his feet to the floor and saving his body free of the loop. It was only because he was unconscious that he failed to save himself, it is believed.

The wire had been suspended in the garage several weeks ago by a brother. It was used to hold electric light bulbs over the car.

If the tragedy victim was conscious when he fell into the loop, he would have been able to extricate himself, they point out. He could have pulled his feet off the car, as they were not caught there, and dropping his feet to the floor and saving his body free of the loop. It was only because he was unconscious that he failed to save himself, it is believed.

COMMITTEE CHAIRMAN DRAFT WAGE SCHEDULE

A definite wage schedule for Appleton police officers and firemen was prepared at a meeting of Mayor A. C. Rule with Alderman Mike Steinhauer, chairman of the fire and water committee of the common council and Alderman C. F. Smith, chairman of the police and license committee at the city hall Wednesday afternoon. The schedule will be presented at a joint meeting of all members of both committees at the city hall at 5 o'clock Thursday afternoon. This committee will either adopt the schedule and report to the common council at its next regular meeting or reject the proposed plan and prepare a new one.

150 EXAMINED AT FREE CHEST CLINIC

Harrington Pleased With Health Interest Shown by High School People

Approximately 150 persons were examined at the free chest clinic conducted by the Wisconsin Anti-Tuberculosis association and sponsored by the Appleton Women's club at the clubhouse Tuesday and Wednesday. Dr. T. L. Harrington was the chief examining physician, and he was assisted by Dr. W. J. Harrington and Dr. Frank Brockway of Oshkosh.

Every person attending the clinic who had been in contact with tuberculosis, whose family had a record of deaths from the disease or who had been ill with pleurisy or pneumonia were examined by the physicians. Dr. Harrington examined all of those who had no tuberculosis history, the health committee of the club reported.

A large attendance of high school students was reported and many were examined by the physicians. Dr. Harrington expressed particular satisfaction over the interest of these young people. There is much talk of the younger generation being inferior to the past, he said, but this is one indication that they are a finer and better type. Their interest in keeping physically fit shows the quality of the boys and girls, he believed.

Dr. Harrington left Wednesday night for Kenosha where he will conduct a chest clinic for the next three days.

The clinic was financed through the sale of Christmas seals. A report of the patients examined will be sent to the club from the association.

BUSINESS SECTION ON CHERRY-ST WILL RUIN HOME DISTRICT

Citizens Hold Meeting to Pro- test Council's Rejection of Plan Board Report

A local business district should not be established on the southwest corner of Cherry and Summit-sts because it will ruin the "super-residential district of the future," it was determined at a meeting of representative citizens at Hotel Northern Wednesday noon. The meeting was held for the purpose of setting the opinion of citizens on placing the corner in the local business district. The city plan commission at a recent meeting had recommended to the council that the petition be rejected but the council ignored the report and ordered ordinances establishing the district to be published. The ordinance will be acted on next Wednesday night.

SIGN PROTEST

It was brought out at the meeting that if the owners of 20 per cent of the frontage proposed to be changed or the owners of the frontage in the immediate rear thereto or directly opposite should protest in writing, a three-fourths vote of the common council is necessary to adopt the ordinance. Action was taken to have the River-view Country club and one other interested property owner sign such a petition and present it to the council.

Dr. C. J. Fairfield, chairman of the plan commission, outlined the policy of that body. He stated that this section of the city had always been regarded as the coming residential district of Appleton and for this reason it refused to recommend the placing of this corner in a business district.

"I think we have a plan commission which is made up of capable men who are giving their time and experience for the benefit of Appleton and I believe the city should abide by its decisions," said H. C. Getschew.

PLAT COUNTRY CLUB

Dr. A. E. Rector, president of River-view Country club, presented a proposed plat of the property owned by the club along the east side of the S. Cherry-st boulevard. The plat was prepared two years ago by Leonard S. Smith, city planning engineer. It provides for dividing of this territory into lots, with streets, parks and playgrounds. A local business district on S. Cherry-st would kill this plan, it was argued.

It was shown that S. Lake-st would be established as a local business district and as this is only a short distance from S. Cherry-st residents in that district would be close to a commercial center. All the land in between S. Cherry and S. Lakes to Foster-st is included in the proposed plat. It would be necessary for the River-view Country club to move to some other location. Dr. Rector pointed out that the development of this territory would mean $1,000,000 in assessed valuation to the city.

A. A. Chittenden said he thought the Cherry-st bridge was one of the best investments the city had ever made. In time, he declared, the revenue to the city from the homes built on the south side would more than repay the city for the cost of the bridge. Further, he pointed out, the bridge establishes one of the most beautiful city entrances any place in the state of Wisconsin. "Why spoil this entrance and the fine boulevard by placing a local business district on it?" he asked.

Clarence Loe, applicant for permission to build a tea room at this location has signified his intention of building just outside the city limits providing his petition is not granted. Dr. P. Steinberg said he believed Cherry-st should not be placed in a business district but he thought that Wisconsin-ave from N. Richmond to N. Durkee-sts should be made into a business district. Mr. Steinberg pressed and urged the matter in favor of upholding decisions of the city plan commission.

The entire committee at the meeting Wednesday will attend the hearing on the ordinances before the ordinance committee at the city hall at 10 o'clock Thursday morning.

Dr. C. Perschbacher is attending the meeting of the Chicago Dental society this week at Chicago.

COOPERSTOWN BONIFACE DIES FROM PARALYSIS

Frank Cooke, proprietor of the Cooke hotel and saloon at Cooperstown for the past thirty years, died Tuesday evening at his home at the age of 52. Mr. Cooke suffered a paralytic stroke in September from which he never fully recovered and when stricken with another attack Tuesday evening, died shortly after. Funeral services will be held Friday morning from St. James church, Cooperstown. Interment will be in the adjoining church cemetery.

He is survived by his mother, Mrs. Cooke, 55; his widow and six children.

WRISTON TALKS ON STATE DEPARTMENT

Lawrence President Chief Speaker at Meeting of Friendship Class

The State Department of National Government was the subject of an address by Dr. Henry M. Wriston, president of Lawrence college, at the banquet and program of the Friendship class of First Methodist church Wednesday evening at the church.

Other numbers on the program were a reading, "The Alien," by Miss Lois Kleehn and community singing led by Everett H. Hall. The Valley State quartet was scheduled to sing, but two of the members were ill.

Seventy men attended the affair. Four guests were present from New London, nine from Kaukauna and eight from Neenah. All Methodist men from the churches of these cities as well as Menasha and Clintonville were invited. Frank Saker, president of the class, presided at the banquet. John Goodrich was in charge of the kitchen committee and was assisted by Frank Zahrt and Paul Bowman. The dining room committee included Everett Wright, chairman, Frank Wright, Joseph Mallory, William McMahon, A. W. Markman and William Hunt.

After the program the men went to the Lawrence college gymnasium where the college professors' team played volleyball with the Neenah Methodist church team.

86 FOREMEN REGISTER TO ATTEND SAFETY SCHOOL

A total of registrations for the Foremen's Safety school which will open at Appleton Vocational school on Wednesday Feb. 9, had been received up to Thursday noon, according to H. G. Noyes, general secretary of the school. Approximately 200 foremen from the factories in Neenah, Menasha, Kaukauna and Appleton are expected to enroll in the course. Mr. Noyes also is directing the paper and pulp making classes in the vocational schools of the four cities.

The safety school is being sponsored by the industrial community, the Appleton Vocational school, the chamber of commerce and industries in the four cities. E. H. Jennings is general chairman of the school.

The course will consist of three general sessions and four sectional meetings of each group. The four groups are, pulp and paper section, metal section, public utilities section and the Woodworking section. Chairmen are H. G. Boon of the Kimberly Clark Paper company, pulp and paper section; E. B. Noyes of the Hayton Pump and Blower company, metal section; W. H. Giesinger, Appleton Wood Products company, wood working; W. E. Schubert, W. T. L. H. and P. company, public utilities.

BEG PARDON

A portrait of President McKinley will be presented by Appleton chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution next Monday afternoon to the McKinley Junior high school instead of a photo of Wilson as was stated in the headlines of a story in the Post-Crescent Wednesday.

EXTINGUISH 3 FIRES WEDNESDAY AFTERNOON

Three minor fires in four and one-half hours kept the city firemen on the jump Wednesday afternoon.

The first alarm was received at 12:30 from the Henry Eichinger residence, 255 S. Telulah-ave. A chimney fire which threatened to spread over the building was extinguished before any damage was done.

The next run was made to the flag shanty of the North Western railroad on the N. Appleton-st crossing. An overheated chimney ignited the roof, but the blaze was put out before it had gained much headway. Slight damage resulted. The shanty is situated on a pole.

Another chimney fire in a residence at 428 S. Locust-st brought the department out for the third time at 3 o'clock. This blaze also was smothered before any damage was done.

DAIRMEN HEAR STATE BOTTLE LAW EXPLAINED

Appleton dairymen are attending a meeting at the hourthouse to hear an explanation of the state law prohibiting a milk company from using milk bottles bearing another company's name. The law also provides that a bottle bearing the words "Pasteurized Milk" may not contain milk that is not so treated.

J. E. Boettcher, chief of the butter division of the state dairy and food department, R. L. Radke, state dairy inspector and Theodore Sanders, Appleton deputy health officer explained the law. Milkmen were to be asked to devise a system whereby only their own milk bottles will be returned to them by their customers.

"There has been a great laxity in the enforcement of this law," Mr. Radke said, "and the dairymen will be advised to follow it strictly in the future. Mr. Sanders will spend several days each month checking the local milkmen."

Markets

MARKET TREND IS UNEVENLY HIGHER

Prices Continue Their Upward Movement Through Early Trading

New York—Stock prices moved irregularly higher at the opening of Thursday's market. Pittsburgh and West Virginia showed an initial gain of 1 1/2 points. The Chicago market showed a point or so higher at Thursday's opening. The board of directors of the American Cattle and Horse Raisers' Association, Southern Dairies and New York Central also showed opening gains of a point or so. General Motors, Radio, Marland and International Harvester yielded fractionally. American National Bank and Bank of England bank rates were unchanged. The New York Federal Reserve rediscount rate late Thursday, prices continued their upward swing through the early trading. The announcement that freight car rates would be increased on Jan. 15 showed an increase over both the preceding week and the corresponding week last year had a bullish effect on sentiment.

POOLS STILL ACTIVE

Pools resumed operations in a number of specialties. Timken Roller Bearings, Lucas and National Supply being elevated to their highest prices in a year or longer, before being sold. The Chicago market and equipment also were brought in large volume with Hudson, General Railway Signs and Belman among the leaders. There were a few soft spots, notably Woolworth, Kresge and Sears, but the latter named the lowest level in over a year.

Generally of bullish demonstrations in the low-price merger issues featured the rail list. Wheeling and Lake Erie Preferred quickly jumped 6 points and the common moved up 2. Another sensational advance of over 20 points in Spanish pesetas, which touched a new high record at 160.65 cents, spurred the irregular foreign exchange market. Demand sterling and French francs ruled slightly lower at 4.51 9-16 and 5.21 cents, respectively. Further headway upward was contested by the bear faction which succeeded in ferreting out soft spots among the grain stores, textile and electrical issues. Selling of U. S. Steel caused the common to drop 1/2 point. Operators who were working for higher prices, Pittsburgh and West Virginia rose further to 12 1/2. The renewal rate on call loans was unchanged at 4 per cent.

The closing was steady. Total sales approximated 1,100,000 shares.

ENGINEERS WILL PREPARE REPORT ON SEWAGE PLANT

Recommendation Will Be Formulated Feb. 8 at Meeting in Appleton

A final report on the feasibility of the proposed plan to build a large sewage disposal plant on the Fox river, north of Kaukauna, with a feed line extending from Neenah to Kaukauna along the course of the river, will be formulated at a joint meeting of engineers of the interested municipalities at Appleton Feb. 8, according to R. M. Connelly, city engineer and chairman of the engineer's committee.

The committee was appointed by Mayor A. C. Rule, chairman of a general committee composed of the heads of the interested cities and villages. The engineers made a preliminary study of the course of the proposed line and the cost of the proposed plan, along with obstacles that might be encountered. This report is to be presented at a joint meeting of the city councils and the village boards to be called by Mayor Rule within the next two months.

E. McMahon, engineer for Neenah-Menasha, Kimberly and Combined Locks, had prepared a map which gave a fair idea of the extent of the project and much of the report will be based upon the study of this map.

It contains a sketch of the Fox river from Neenah to Kaukauna, with a diagram recording the present population of the communities interested and the estimated population in 50 years, based upon the growth of the last 50 years.

The present population of the territory within the Neenah and Menasha district is about 17,000 and will increase to about 25,000 within the next half century, it is estimated. The population of the Appleton district now about 23,000, is expected to grow to 45,000. The district containing Kaukauna, Little Chute, Kimberly and Combined Locks is a present inhabitant by 10,000 persons. This number will grow to 20,000 within the next five decades.

The territory outlined on the map is all that within the watershed of the Fox river. One of the greatest obstacles in the path of the completion of this plan is to devise some schedule whereby each district will be assessed a fair share of the estimated cost of $1,500,000.

Since there is no state law providing for the formation of a sewage disposal district as planned, one of the first steps to be taken in carrying out this program, if it meets with the approval of the communities interested, will be to draft the proper legislation and present it to the state law makers for adoption.

Approximately 15 miles of pipe would have to be laid along the river to carry the sewage from all the communities. While this would cost an enormous amount of money, it would be much less expensive than for each city to construct an individual disposal system, according to Mr. McMahon.

The situation in the Fox river valley, regarding the dumping of sewage into the river, is considered critical and all cities may receive an order at any time from the state board of health requesting them to discontinue this practice, it is believed. Were such an order to be issued it would mean that each city would be forced to build its own sewage disposal plant.

RURAL PUPILS LEARN ACCIDENT PREVENTION

Outagamie-co is one of the few counties in the state whose rural school pupils receive instruction in the prevention of accidents, it is revealed at the office of A. G. Meating, county superintendent of schools. This study was introduced into the rural schools here three years ago and has been well received by the students, Mr. Meating reports.

The subject is taught through the study of the law of negligence, and is pupils. Pupils in lower grades, however, made familiar with certain precautionary measures with which to guide themselves, and are taught methods of rendering aid to others. That the study is being eagerly grasped is indicated by the number of letters the county superintendent has received from pupils, he reports. The course was mapped out by Mr. Meating three years ago.

VENDORS HERE ARE ACCURATE, HONEST

Only Small Percentage of Scales and Containers Found Faulty

That Appleton merchants are honest and accurate is indicated in the annual report of Joseph A. Hodgins, city scaler of weights and measures to the common council. The report shows that of 2,676 vendors, scales, and measures tested in 1926 only 76 were adjusted, 36 were condemned for repairs and 45 were condemned entirely. In 1925, these cases, according to Mr. Hodgins, the owners of the articles were "unaware of their faulty condition."

A total of 13 complaints were investigated and 123 samples of milk were tested. Of 553 scales inspected, seven were condemned and 21 were condemned for repairs. Of 511 measures inspected only 47 were found incorrect. Of 133 containers examined only one was found to be faulty.

Of 168 gas pumps inspected, 31 were adjusted and 15 were condemned for repairs. No milk or cream containers of 116 tested were found to be incorrect.

The total cost of operating this department for the year was $1,337.78, according to the report. Of this amount: $1,500 was for salary, $87 for livery hire, $8 for steel dies, $2.18 for stamps and $2.60 for equipment.

Rural Dwellers Favor Law To Keep Roads Open

Main highways kept open through state law the entire year would convenience farmers on the side as well as the more travelled and cleared roads. In the opinion of many persons living in rural districts, the two or three miles of side road between a farm and the highway could easily be travelled with a horse and sleigh, but to come all the way to the villages or Appleton now means a great loss of time.

Doctors would be unable to pass over many of the country roads this winter, rural carriers stated. Last week a farmer was seriously ill and was brought by ambulance to Appleton. It happened the roads were passable from his farm to the city. But there are places in the country where a car could not go, even if it were a matter of illness. If the highways were cleared, farmers could drive to the main road to meet a doctor if he were needed, it was brought out.

Busses operating on the main highways would facilitate travel, one carrier said. In this instance too, county residents on side roads could be brought to the busses by horse. Towns and cities would profit through farmer trade if busses could run in the winter, it was believed.

Milk trucks from local dairies and creameries were prevented this week from going out as far as they did early in the winter. With each snow the roads become more impassable, the carriers continued. Some farmers now drive a sleigh all the way to Appleton with their milk and cream.

Gas Made Woman's Stomach Feel Hollow

"I had gas on the stomach and would wake up with a hollow feeling as if I had not eaten for days. Since taking Adlerika, my appetite is good and nothing disagrees with me,"—Mrs. Mary Noble.

Adlerika is a compound of the best saline intestinal cleanser with glycerine, buckthorn, cascara and other gas-expelling and detergent elements. It is excellent for intestinal stasis, a disease due to modern ways of living and which is often the true cause of sour stomach, gas bloating, nervous dyspepsia and restless sleep.

Unlike most medicines, Adlerika acts upon BOTH upper and lower bowel, giving the intestines a REAL cleansing and bringing out old poisonous matter, you never thought was in your system. Even if bowels move daily, you will be surprised how much more old matter Adlerika brings out which may have been causing all your trouble. In slight disorders, like occasional constipation, GAS bloating, indigestion or sick headache, ONE spoonful always brings relief.

Dr. H. L. Shroub, New York: "Adlerika, in addition to its intestinal cleansing, checks the growth of intestinal bacteria."

Dr. A. C. Curl: "I prescribe Adlerika with highly satisfactory results."

Dr. J. Weaver: "In my 50 years practice, I have found nothing to equal Adlerika."

J. E. Puckett: "After using Adlerika, I feel better than for 20 years. Awful impurities were eliminated from my system."

Dr. F. M. P. (name withheld by request): "I use Adlerika in all bowel cases. Some require only one dose."

No matter what you have tried for your stomach and bowels, Adlerika will surprise you. At leading druggists in Appleton at Voigt's Drug Store, & other Druggists. adv.
